

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

The Speaker elect, the Hon. William A. James, of Lake, was conducted to the Chair and delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

In assuming the duties assigned me by your favor, I do so with no other desire than to the best of my ability to discharge them with due regard to the rights of members, in accordance with the constitution, in a manner which may in some degree magnify the greatness and glory of our State, by encouraging the development of her resources, and adding to the happiness and prosperity of our people. In the furtherance of these objects, so far as we may do within the limited sphere of the powers with which we are vested, I know I shall have your hearty support and co-operation. I am aware that I am unequal to the discharge of the duties of the position in any way commensurate with the dignity and importance attached to it, without your co-operation and support. With these remarks, gentlemen, trusting that you will generously pardon any errors I may commit in the performance of the duties assigned me, I again return you my thanks.

The election of permanent officers of the House was proceeded with, and

[Signed]

THOS. F. MITCHELL,
MOSES J. WENTWORTH,
C. H. FREW.

A message from the Governor, by Edward F. Leonard, private secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the message of the Governor, with the biennial reports of the Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Attorney General and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Senate resolution, which was under discussion at time of adjournment yesterday, was taken up.

Mr. Snigg moved to lay the resolution on the table,

Which motion was lost.

Mr. Trusdell moved to refer the resolution to the Committee on Contingent Expenses, when appointed,

Which motion was lost.

Mr. Granger moved to refer the resolution to a special committee of five, to be appointed by the Chair.

THE BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR of the State of Illinois, to the Thirty-First General Assembly, was taken up and read.

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Two years have passed since the representatives of the people last assembled to deliberate and legislate upon the important interests of their constituents in this State. During this time the people have been favored with usual health; and the scourge of disease, which has so afflicted portions of our land, has been providentially stayed and arrested in its fatal career at our very border. The harvests have been bountiful, especially for the year just closed. The trade and industry of the State are reviving, and the spirit and courage of the people take new life from the evidences on every hand that there are prosperous days for this State and nation in the immediate future. The resumption of specie payments by the United States government, after a suspension of seventeen years, is one of the grandest facts and achievements in the financial history of nations. Its accomplishment is evidence alike of the wise councils which have governed our policy, and of the enormous resources and surplus production which have made it possible. We have abundant reason to give thanks to the Giver of all good for the favor which has been shown us as a people. I congratulate you upon your assembling together at the opening of a new year under so favorable circumstances.

The chief duty of the Governor, under the constitution, is expressed in the obligation which it imposes upon him, to "take care that the laws be faithfully executed." In a sense, he is doing this in the performance of every proper official act; but the obligation seems graver, and the people have a more vital interest in the manner of its discharge, when the public peace and the lives and property of law-abiding citizens are in jeopardy by reason of organized attacks, or exposed to the menaces of a mob. A government which fails to protect the life and property of its citizens, comes short of fulfilling the first object of its creation and maintenance.

After the era of prosperity which followed the war, there naturally came a period of depression. Hard times set in, and many laboring men connected with railroads, manufacturing and mining establishments, were thrown out of work, and the wages of those employed were, from time to time, reduced. As the result of this condition of things, they became restless and dissatisfied; disagreements occurred, and frequent strikes followed. Finally, in July, 1877, the quiet of the people was suddenly broken, and the business of almost the whole country was stopped by assemblages of men, who, in violation and defiance of law and of the civil authorities, took possession of railroads, manufacturing establishments and mines, and forced the owners, and those willing and eager to work, to stop work and submit to the dictation of the rioters. So unlooked for were these occurrences, that few of the States had any preparation for them. At some places there was great loss of life and property; but in our own State, with the exception of the sad occurrences of one day in the streets of Chicago, the whole record of suffering and loss is told, when the statement is made that for a week many of the railroads, mines and manufacturing establishments were under the rule of lawless men, and the commerce of the State was almost at a stand-still. The act passed by the last General Assembly, in 1877, providing for the organizing of the militia, had been in force but a few days, and nothing had been done under it to organize the military force of the State. There was no adequate preparation for the troubles which so suddenly came upon us. Every military company in the State, however, whether mustered into service or not, and whether armed and equipped or not—none of them being fully equipped for active duty—responded to the call upon them, and held themselves in readiness to go wherever ordered, and to perform any duty, as soldiers, which the exigencies of the time demanded. Ammunition was procured with all possible dispatch, and as soon as the National Guard could reach the different points in the State where the rioters were interfering with labor, and in possession of railroad trains and manufacturing and mining establishments, all unlawful assemblages were dispersed and business resumed. While the strike and riotous lawlessness resulted in no destruction of property in this State, it cost the State a considerable sum of money, besides the loss sustained by citizens in the interference with their business.

The officers and men of the Illinois National Guard are entitled to the heartiest thanks of the people of the State for their prompt and efficient service. As already stated, every military organization in the State was called to duty, and was either in active service or at its Armory waiting orders for about fifteen days. The railway trains, and machine shops and factories in Chicago, Peoria, Galesburg, Decatur and East St. Louis, were in the hands of the mob, as well as the mines at Braidwood, LaSalle, and some other places; and all these places were urgently demanding a military force to aid the civil authorities in their efforts to preserve the peace and enforce the law. A military force was placed on duty at all the places named above, with strict orders to act subordinate to, and in assistance of, the civil authorities. Their behavior throughout was unexceptionable.

The members of the Illinois National Guard include representatives of every honorable occupation—some are men who have charge of large business interests, others are working for daily wages, and depending upon their wages for support. The time and attention which these men gave, in response to my call upon them, involved to many a serious sacrifice. They gave their service freely. The law of the State fixes the rate of payment for such service, but no appropriation had been made to meet this unlooked-for contingency, and no adequate fund was at the disposal of the Governor to defray the expenses of such an emergency. The consequence is, the National Guard have not been paid a dollar for their services. I have on three other occasions, at the request of civil authorities, ordered the militia to report to the sheriffs to assist them in preserving the public peace in the counties of LaSalle, Pike and St. Clair.

The subsistence and pay of the military force, and their transportation from one point to another, has been estimated by the Adjutant General to amount to $86,880.27, of which $67,752.21 is due to the National Guard, $10,379.53 to the railroad companies for transportation, and $8,748.53 is the total expense of subsistence and quartermaster's stores, of which last named amount $4,820 has been paid out of the contingent fund of the Governor. The bills which have been paid are, principally, those of small amounts, for camp equipage, subsistence and medicine. I therefore recommend that an appropriation be made, without delay, sufficient to pay the militia for their services according to the pay-rolls approved by the Adjutant General, and now in his possession; also, to pay the railroad companies the amounts that shall be found to be due them, and the unpaid balance of quartermaster's and subsistence bills.

The occurrences of July, 1877, gave a great impetus to the organization of the militia under the existing law. I take great pleasure in calling your special attention to the report of the Adjutant General, which gives a history of the operations of the military force of the State for the last two years, together with a detailed statement of the expenses thereby incurred. The suggestions and recommendations of the Adjutant General in relation to the equipment of the National Guard so that they may at all times be ready for active duty, the building of a new State arsenal, and the sale of the present one, I most cordially endorse, and I also recommend that the salary of the Adjutant General be increased, and that he be provided with increased force in his office.

In July, 1877, when the "strike," as it was called, was in progress, the first duty of the civil authorities was to enforce the law and maintain the peace by whatever means necessary; and as a step to this, to secure the dispersal of all riotous assemblages of men, whatever might be the pretext of their coming together. The fact is, that there was, at no time in this State, any wide-spread or organized strike among the laboring classes. There was a great deal of dissatisfaction at what the employed, in certain lines of industry, regarded as an oppressive reduction of wages. When trouble broke out in the Eastern States, a very few turbulent spirits among the laboring men, joined by the idlers, tramps, and generally those who make up what is known as the "dangerous classes," taking advantage of the general alarm, were enabled, for a few days only, to paralyze the industry of the State. Many a factory closed its doors, and many a railroad stopped its trains, among whose employes not a single man was in active sympathy with the mob.

The vagrant, the wilfully idle, was the chief element in all these disturbances, and we have to recognize the fact that we have among us a class which is ready, at all times, to join in any movement looking to a disturbance of the peace and an opportunity to plunder. The same events which taught us this fact, also showed us how sure and effective are the agencies for the preservation of peace which the State has at command, and the lawless classes have learned that there is power enough to thwart and punish any attempt to override the law, disregard civil authority, and interfere with the rights of peaceable citizens in the use of their property or the disposal of their labor.

The experience of the last two years confirms my views expressed in my address to the Thirtieth General Assembly, and I may be allowed to repeat them here:

The spirit of our institutions and the temper of our people are hostile to a standing army, and I am opposed to any policy, State or National, looking to governing the people by the bayonet. Yet in the most highly civilized communities a trained militia, recruited from the intelligent and industrious classes, is an almost indispensable auxiliary to the civil power in the interests of peace and good order.

EXPENSES OF STATE GOVERNMENT.

The condition of the finances of the State, as shown by the reports of the Auditor and Treasurer, is as follows, omitting the local bond funds, which the State receives and disburses as a trustee for the municipalities; the Illinois river improvement fund, and the small amounts in some minor funds, which are also held in a trust capacity:

There was in the state treasury, October 1, 1876—
General revenue fund	$1,887,667 69
State school fund	179,166 44
Illinois Central Railroad fund	424,846 75
		$1,991,080 78
The receipts for the two years ending September 30, 1878, have been—
State taxes: General revenue fund	$3,856,024 88
State school fund	2,118,259 09
Military fund	88,261 34
Illinois Central Railroad fund	647,226 05
		6,659,771 26
Total		$8,650,852 14
The disbursements for the two years ending September 30, 1878, have been—
General revenue fund	$3,538,937 69
State school fund	2,021,902 78
Illinois Central Railroad fund	946,650 97
Military fund	31,046 76
		6,538,628 16
The balance in the state treasury, October 1, 1878, was (deducting all warrants outstanding)—
General revenue fund	$1,704,754 78
State school fund	275,433 77
Illinois Central Railroad fund	124,821 88
Military fund	7,214 68
Balance		$2,112,223 96

A further examination of the disbursements from the State Treasury during the biennial term gives the following result: The disbursements of the State school fund have been in the payment to the counties of school tax fund orders, and the salary and office expenses of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Illinois Central Railroad fund disbursed has been used in the payment of the principal and interest of the State debt. The military fund has been disbursed to the commanding officers of the several regiments, battalions, etc., under the apportionment made by the Adjutant General. The chief items of disbursements, those of the general revenue fund, which, for the two years, amount to $3,538,937.69, are as follows:

Executive—embracing expenses of all offices and departments of the State government not specified below	$301,478 86
Judicial	476,915 74
Legislative	237,959 30
Educational	174,339 98
Charitable	1,423,809 24
Correctional	430,080 81
Building and maintenance of new State House	234,655 91
Canal	62,408 18
Printing, binding and stationery	81,971 29
Miscellaneous special appropriations, including taxes refunded	123,083 88
Total	$3,538,937 69

STATE DEBT.

The principal of the bonded debt of the State, outstanding Oct. 1, 1876, was. $1,478,000 27
 Paid during the two years ending Sept. 30, 1878..... 676,287 68

State debt outstanding Oct. 1, 1878..... $802,312 59
 Since the first of January, the Treasurer has paid in New York, in pursuance of legal notice, bonds to the amount of..... 249,570 53

Debt now outstanding..... $552,742 06
 Of this amount there is now due and payable, at the pleasure of the State... 357,442 08

The remainder..... $195,300 06 will be payable, at the pleasure of the State, on and after January 1, 1880.

If the Legislature would provide for the payment of school fund interest orders out of the General Revenue Fund, as was done prior to 1873, the Illinois Central Railroad Fund will more than suffice to pay all the principal of the bonded debt of the State by the first of January, 1881. Thus the State can be out of debt when the next legislature convenes, and thereafter, under the constitution, such fund is appropriated and set apart for the payment of the ordinary expenses of the State government.

MUNICIPAL DEBT.

The Auditor, in his report, furnishes you with a very valuable and instructive table of the municipal debt of the State, in which he shows that it aggregates $51,811,691. The larger part of this debt has been incurred in making useful and necessary local improvements, and is represented by valuable municipal property. About thirty per cent. of this total of municipal debt represents the railroad aid debt of the municipalities of the State. The constitution of the State now forbids all counties, cities or other municipalities from making subscriptions to capital stock or donations in aid of any railroad or private corporation, and further forbids the incurring of any indebtedness to an amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per cent. on the value of the taxable property therein. These are wise and fortunate provisions, and under them the municipal debt of the State is now decreasing, and will for some years continue to decrease. The use of municipal credit for any extravagant or unnecessary purpose to such extent as would be a serious injury to the municipality, is impossible under our present constitution.

REVENUE.

I wish to respectfully urge upon the Legislature the importance of a careful consideration of the revenue system. The Auditor has suggested some amendments which are designed to insure the more prompt collection of taxes, and a fuller and more equal assessment, and it is of great importance that these amendments should be adopted, or some legislation had looking substantially to the same end.

While much can be done and should speedily be done to improve our present revenue system, we also have to consider the question whether it is desirable by constitutional amendment to make some alteration of the system itself. The large revenue received from the Illinois Central Railroad, and which will so soon be available for payment of ordinary State expenses, provokes the inquiry whether it may not be possible by a system of licenses, and taxes on corporate capital stock and income, to raise all the general revenue fund in a manner which will diminish the expenses of collection, save the embarrassing and difficult questions connected with the equalization of assessments, and be in substantial accordance with the theory of our present system, that every person or corporation shall pay tax in just proportion. It is a fact that the present system, in its practical workings, falls short of the constitutional requirements under which it is framed.

To settle this inquiry will involve a large amount of labor by competent persons in the collection of statistics, and the study and comparison of the revenue system of other states and countries. I recommend that the Legislature provide for this work being done by committee or commission, as they may deem expedient.

Whatever may be done, however, to equalize or simplify the burdens of taxation, they still are burdens, and the greater duty of those who make, and of those who execute the laws, remains in the obligation to see that whatever moneys are raised shall be economically and honestly expended.

INTEREST.

This State has always regulated the rate of interest for money loaned and on other contracts. The Act of March 2, 1819, made the rate six per cent. per annum, but declared any rate lawful, for the payment of which an express contract had been made. The Revised Statutes of 1833 legalized any agreed rate up to twelve per cent. per annum. The Revised Statutes of 1845 authorized the collection of six per cent. per annum and no more. In 1849, it was made lawful to stipulate, by written contract, for the payment of ten per cent. per annum for use of money loaned, and in 1857 this provision was extended to all contracts.

In commercial centres, and in older communities, where the home supply of capital is fully up to all the wants of trade, it may answer to allow the rate of interest to be fixed by the law of demand and supply, which makes prices for all staple commodities. In newer States, where accumulated capital is not sufficient to meet all the demand for its use, and resort is had to outside sources of supply, and in all purely agricultural communities, experience has shown that a maximum rate should be fixed by statute.

In Chicago, and in St. Louis, (which is a money mart for some portions of Illinois,) the ordinary commercial rate has, for some time, been eight per cent. per annum, and there have been long periods when the bulk of transactions have been at still lower figures. There is a permanent lowering of the rate of interest, resulting from the increasing amount of accumulated capital seeking employment in those cities. This is equally true all over the country, and may be illustrated by an examination of the financial reports of New York and other eastern cities—but best of all by the fact that the United States government has been able to reduce the rate of interest on its loans from six per cent. per annum to four per cent. per annum. In view of these facts, I believe the time has come when, in this State, we should reduce the maximum rate of interest to eight per cent. per annum, and I recommend that the Legislature amend chapter seventy-four of the Revised Statutes to that effect.

SECRETARY OF STATE.

I place before you, herewith, the biennial report of the Secretary of State, and to its full and faithful recitals you are referred for information upon many important topics, which are worthy of your careful consideration. I respectfully call your attention to the record of proceedings had under the Act of May 21, 1877, to secure to the State additional capitol grounds. The Commissioners appointed under that law awarded an aggregate of compensation and damages for the grounds selected, of $34,100, and the Attorney General has instituted suit for the same, with costs, against the obligors of the bond given by certain citizens to the People of the State of Illinois, guaranteeing the conveyance to the State of the land in question.

I agree with the Secretary of State in his request for an additional appropriation for the incidental expenses of this General Assembly, and for the care of the State House and grounds, and for an additional appropriation to pay the contractors for State binding.

"The State Historical Library and Natural History Museum," established by Act of the Thirtieth General Assembly, has made a very satisfactory beginning, and calls for further aid at your hands, which it eminently deserves.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The duties of the Attorney General's office have become very numerous and important within the last few years. The biennial report of the Attorney General shows the number and character of the suits in which the State has had an interest—a very large number of the cases involving large sums of money for past due taxes from corporations. It is a source of satisfaction to know that nearly all of these cases have been disposed of in favor of the validity of the tax assessments, and the taxes have accordingly been paid. I respectfully ask your attention to the suggestions of the Attorney General in relation to the defects in the law governing the prosecution of tax injunction cases.

The case of The People ex rel. the Attorney General v. The Illinois Agricultural College at Irvington, was appealed to the Supreme Court in pursuance of the joint resolution of the Thirtieth General Assembly, and the decision of the court below reversed and sent back, and a decree has been rendered, in the court below, in conformity to the opinion of the Supreme Court, and the buildings and real estate, representing proceeds of seminary lands, which had previously been conveyed to the college in trust, have been reconveyed to the State, subject to certain liens. It will be necessary for the Legislature to make an appropriation sufficient to pay off these liens, or such of them as may be finally established, in order to protect the interests of the State. Your attention is specially called to this matter, as the judgments and other liens should be discharged, and some provision made for the disposition of the land in accord with the original purpose for which the same was granted.

The Attorney General has, during the last two years, prepared and delivered to the officers and persons calling for them, a large number of opinions, which are valuable guides in the administration of public affairs. I recommend that you provide for the publication and distribution, in book form, of the opinions of the Attorney General, and that you request him to select for publication, from the files of his office, those of public character and lasting interest.

EDUCATION.

The report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction is well worthy of your consideration. It contains much valuable information on the subject of education, and suggests many changes of the present law, to which I invite your attention.

The condition of affairs of the two normal universities are ably presented in the reports of their trustees and officers, from which you can learn what legislation is necessary for their benefit. These institutions are doing a very useful work as a necessary adjunct of our common school system. The wisest economy dictates a liberal provision for the maintenance of our common schools and these universities. They belong to a department of the government which is fully recognized, in all civilized states, as an important factor in insuring prosperity and preserving public order.

By the acceptance of the endowment fund, contributed by the United States, Illinois has, as I think, very wisely undertaken, in the Industrial University at Champaign, to found a State university in the fullest and broadest sense. In obedience to the practical spirit of the age, the design has been to provide a school where the youth of our State can acquire the scientific rudiments needed in their several callings and pursuits in life, with opportunities for the highest literary and artistic culture. This institution has entered on its second decade, and gives the brightest promises of a long career of honor and usefulness. The reports of its officers and trustees show its condition, and I recommend the appropriations for which they ask.

AGRICULTURE.

Illinois is pre-eminently an agricultural State, and causes likely to aid in the more rapid development of our agricultural resources, should receive careful attention. Our soil and climate are peculiarly adapted to the profitable production of a great variety of crops. Much the larger portion of our people are engaged in agricultural pursuits, and a proper recognition of this wealth-producing class, I trust, will not be overlooked, in your deliberations. Legislation for the protection of sheep, and for the prevention, as far as possible, of diseases among farm animals, is especially demanded.

The Department of Agriculture, under the control of the state board of agriculture, has rendered the State valuable service, and deserves more than a passing notice. The reports of the condition of the growing crops, published by that department in monthly circulars, are highly valued by all interested in our productions. Complete statistics of the agricultural resources of the State are most useful, and whatever legislation may be deemed necessary to secure them and insure their accuracy, should be adopted.

The State Agricultural Museum, as an advertisement of our varied resources, and as a means of exhibit of our products to our own citizens and visitors from abroad, promises, when complete, to be a valuable collection, and is worthy of support.

I recommend the usual appropriations in aid of the department of Agriculture of the State Horticultural Society, and for the expenses of the State Entomologist.

Closely allied to the interests of agriculture, is the improvement of the common highways. We need better roads for the transportation of farm products to market. Bad roads at certain seasons of the year form one of the great disadvantages of our rich soil, and I think there can be some plan devised by legislation to encourage their permanent improvement.

The Thirtieth General Assembly submitted an amendment to the Constitution, providing that the General Assembly may pass laws permitting the owners of lands to construct drains, ditches and levees for agricultural, sanitary, and mining purposes, etc. The proposed amendment was voted upon at the last general election, and was ratified by a very large majority of all the votes cast. The subject of drainage is one of great importance. Millions of bushels of grain may be added to the crops of our State by the proper drainage of our level lands. The amendment to the Constitution will now permit such legislation as may be necessary to carry out any reasonable system of drainage in the interest of an increased production of the soil and the improved health of the people.

RAILROAD AND WAREHOUSE COMMISSIONERS.

The reports of the Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners for 1877 and 1878, which will be laid before you, contains much valuable information relating to the condition and operation of railroads and the shipment and inspection of grain. The report for 1878 shows a substantial increase in the tonnage and earnings of railroads in 1878 over the amount in 1877. This fact, I think, may be regarded as an evidence of returning prosperity to the country. The growing disposition of the railroad corporations to recognize the authority of the Commission in all matters subject to its control, is noted with satisfaction. The commissioners have done all in their power to enforce the law in relation to railroads and their operation. They are met by many embarrassments and difficulties, which they have pointed out and discussed in their report, to which I ask your attention. Nearly half the States have established boards of Railroad Commissioners, and many other States are likely soon to do so. I think the people of the country are convinced of the importance of maintaining such a commission, and that corporations created by the State must be subordinate to its sovereignty.

I recommend that the law creating the office of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners be amended so that the term of office be four years instead of two.

The Grain Inspection department, under the control of the Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners, is now administered with very general satisfaction to all concerned. The shipments to Chicago, reported by the Chief Inspector, for 1878, show an enormous gain over 1877, and the fact that the business of inspection is so well managed is increasing the public confidence in the wisdom of State inspection.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The act to create and establish a State Board of Health went into force July 1, 1877, and very soon after that date the Board was organized and entered upon its duties. The blanks and instructions for registration of births, marriages and deaths were prepared, and the system was inaugurated in 1878, with results that are very satisfactory for a beginning, and which will be placed before you as soon as they can be collected and tabulated.

The Board of Health has performed with great success the important work imposed upon it by the Medical Practice Act. It contains representatives of the leading medical schools, who have worked in entire harmony, and have sought to secure for the people of the State the great advantages which the law was intended to give, by the elevation of the standard of qualifications for the practice of medicine. Many delicate questions have arisen in the discharge of this branch of their duties, and while they have aimed to faithfully execute the law, they have also been careful not to make it a means of oppression or persecution. More than five thousand persons practicing medicine in this State have complied with the law, and received certificates, and it is estimated that fourteen hundred persons who had been practicing medicine, and were unable to comply with the law, have left the State. The Board of Health recommend that provision be made for the publication, in book form, of the register of practitioners who have complied with the law.

Owing to the pressure of the work imposed by the Medical Practice act, the board has not done much in the way of sanitary investigation, but they have prepared a scheme for a complete sanitary and topographical survey of the State, which will be placed before you for your consideration. During the yellow fever epidemic in the autumn of 1878, they did good service in assisting municipal authorities, and I am satisfied that the partial quarantine established at Cairo was very useful in hindering the introduction and spread of the disease, and in allaying excitement and preventing panic in the neighboring towns.

STATE HOUSE.

The report of the State House Commissioners gives a full financial statement, including the date and amount of every appropriation for the building, and also recites in detail what remains to be done for its completion. The Thirtieth General Assembly passed an act appropriating $531,712.18 "for the completion and furnishing of the new State House," subject to ratification by the people at the succeeding general election. The appropriation was submitted, and voted down by the people by a large majority. Little remains to be done in which the usefulness or practical features of the building are involved, but I am convinced, as I think you will be when you have given it personal examination, that the interests of the State demand its early completion in all its parts.

COMMISSIONERS TO PARIS EXPOSITION.

Under the provisions of the act of Congress I nominated, and the President of the United States appointed, John M. Gregory and Osborn

R. Keith, as honorary Commissioners to represent the State of Illinois at the International Industrial Exposition, held in Paris in 1878. These gentlemen prepared and I caused to be printed a pamphlet, in the French language, containing sketches of the history, geography, geology, and other natural features of the State, its agriculture, commerce, manufactures and educational system, with a description of its chief commercial city, and other interesting facts. This was freely distributed at the Exposition, and I have abundant evidence that it was highly appreciated, not only as a description of this State, but as a representation of the general character of American States and institutions. The Commissioners have prepared a report, which will be placed before you, in which they have embodied the results of a careful study of the leading exhibits, selecting those which give information most valuable to the citizens of Illinois.

I recommend that an appropriation of $500 be made to Dr. J. M. Gregory, for his services in preparing and superintending the publication of the pamphlet in French, and to reimburse him for clerk hire and other expenses connected with the preparation of the report.

COMMISSIONER TO STOCKHOLM.

I appointed Fred H. Wines, Secretary of the State Board of Charities, a Commissioner to attend the International Prison Congress, held at Stockholm, in August, 1878. His report as Commissioner, which is incorporated in the biennial report of the State Board of Charities, gives, in addition to a report of the congress, much valuable information concerning penal and charitable institutions which he visited.

PENITENTIARIES.

The full and explicit reports of the Commissioners and Warden of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Joliet, furnish all the facts and tables needed to enable you to have a complete knowledge of the affairs of the prison during the last two years, its expenses, its earnings, the amount of its indebtedness, the health of the convicts, and, generally, the discipline of the prison. The indebtedness on the 30th of September, 1878, was $50,596.32, which amount should be appropriated, and the debts paid without delay. This prison has been self-supporting since the early part of last summer, but when the present Board of Commissioners took control, and for a year afterwards, it was overcrowded with convicts, and in the general depression of business it was impossible to secure work of any kind, at any price, for several hundred of them.

I call your especial attention to the suggestion of the Commissioners and Warden in favor of a further appropriation, to be drawn upon by the prison, to avoid the necessity of using credit, and the consequent expense in interest and the higher prices paid for subsistence and clothing. These suggestions come with equal force from both prisons, and whatever you may deem proper to do in response to them should apply to both.

The act passed by the Thirtieth General Assembly, to locate, construct and carry on the Southern Illinois Penitentiary, came in force

July 1, 1877. The Commissioners appointed under this law entered at once upon their duties, and after very full consideration they finally agreed upon a site for the prison at Chester. This selection of locality and site was approved by the Governor, Auditor of Public Accounts, and Attorney General. The tract purchased for a site contains 122½ acres, with ample frontage on the Mississippi river. The Commissioners found great difficulty in selecting a place having all the pre-requisites recited in the law, viz: "convenience of access, elevation, drainage, never-failing water privilege, convenience to both quantity and quality of stone and timber," with 100 acres of land in one body, at a cost not to exceed $20,000. Many localities offered possessed some of these qualities. The difficulty was in finding one which combined them all. The locality at Chester comes nearer to a complete compliance with the law than any other point which the Commissioners examined.

After the location the Commissioners procured satisfactory plans for a warden's house, and cell house, with capacity to hold four hundred convicts, advertised for bids, and contracts were made for the erection of these buildings. A temporary house was built for the accommodation of the officers. A brick building 200 feet long, 44 feet wide and two stories high, was built for a temporary prison, and will, later, be useful and necessary as a machine shop. On the 21st of March, 1878, two hundred prisoners were sent from Joliet, thereby giving much needed relief to the Northern prison. The cell house, with capacity for four hundred convicts, was completed on the 1st day of October last, and since that date courts in the Southern Penitentiary district have been sending convicts to the Chester prison. It is evident already that the division of the State by section 11 of the Southern Illinois Penitentiary act, gives the Southern Penitentiary a larger district than it can for some time accommodate, and I therefore recommend that authority be given to the Governor to fix the limits of the Northern and Southern districts, respectively, on the joint recommendation of the boards of commissioners.

The appropriation of $200,000 for the Southern Illinois Penitentiary was for the selection of a site, purchase of land and the erection of buildings. The act also provided that the Commissioners should, as speedily as practicable, be ready for the safe keeping of a large number of convicts to be transferred from the Northern prison—the object of the Legislature being to relieve the Northern prison, and to use convict labor in the construction of the new one. There was no specific appropriation for the payment of officers and men to guard the prisoners, or for the clothing and subsistence of the convicts, or for cell furniture, and necessary tools to make their labor available. The Commissioners have believed that, under these circumstances, a reasonable construction of the statute, taken as a whole, permits them to use such portion of the appropriation as is necessary to equip and carry on the prison.

The reports of the commissioners and warden show the progress of the work, present full financial statements, and give an estimate of the amount necessary to complete the prison according to the design. I ask your attention to these reports, and recommend such appropriations as will secure completion during the years 1879 and 1880; and also that you make such other provision as will enable the commissioners to take care of the prisoners without incurring debt.

On the first day of this month, Joliet prison held 1,548 convicts, of whom 1,523 were men and 25 women; and the Chester prison held 345 convicts, 341 men and 4 women.

PARDONS.

The pardoning power of the Governor involves a laborious line of duties, which are very closely allied to his obligation to take care that the laws be faithfully executed. Every pardon improperly granted is not only in such particular case an omission to faithfully execute the laws, but it goes some way to weaken the deterrent influence, which is one of the objects of the punishment of crime. To avoid the danger of being misled by ex parte statements, I have adopted a rule requiring that notice of the intention to apply for a pardon shall be given, by three weeks' advertisement in the county in which the offense was committed, and that all applications shall first be submitted to the judge who presided at the trial, and to the state's attorney who prosecuted, for such statement or recommendation, if any, as they may see proper to make. Experience has shown the uses of such advertisement, where the application does not fully or fairly state the facts, and I am satisfied that the operation of the rule has been to reduce the number of frivolous applications.

BOARD OF CHARITIES.

The State charitable, educational and penal institutions of Illinois may be divided into two classes, those which are, and those which are not subject to the inspection of the Board of State Commissioners of Public Charities. The only institutions exempt from this supervision, are the universities and the penitentiaries. Of the ten institutions connected with the Board, nine are in actual operation, viz: the three insane hospitals, an institution for the deaf and dumb, and one for the blind, an asylum for feeble minded children, the soldiers' orphans' home, the State reform school, and the charitable eye and ear infirmary at Chicago. The Thirtieth General Assembly appropriated for the use of these nine institutions, for all purposes, for two years from July 1, 1877, the sum of $1,333,275, a portion of which was for their enlargement to accommodate a greater number of unfortunates. The same institutions ask for appropriations by the present General Assembly to the amount of a little over $1,400,000. The commissioners of Public Charities, whose duty it is, under the statute, to revise these requests, are of the opinion that an appropriation of about $1,200,000, or $600,000 for each of the two years, will be sufficient to meet the actual necessities of the case, but do not regard it as prudent to go below this figure, in view of the large increase in the number of inmates, especially of insane patients in our hospitals. This board has been vigorous in the exercise of its functions, fearless in the expression of its opinion, and has held, from its organization, a pretty even middle course between parsimony and extravagance. I therefore commend the report of the board (in which you will find detailed estimates and the reasons for them) to your careful attention. I am substantially in accord with the views therein expressed.

A gratifying evidence of the prudent management which our State charitable institutions have had, is found in the fact that they have kept within their appropriations, and that every one carries over a balance of appropriation unexpended. The reports of the trustees and officers of the several institutions will repay your careful consideration, which you should bestow to enable you to make adequate provision for their necessities.

At this point I take the opportunity of saying, that to the Commissioners of Public Charities, to the trustees of the State institutions, and to all other unpaid officials in the State, a heavy debt of obligation is due, on the part of the commonwealth, for a large amount of valuable service of the best description voluntarily rendered, without reward or the expectation of any, other than the consciousness of duty faithfully performed and the gratitude of the public, to which they are certainly entitled.

The last Legislature provided for the construction of a fourth hospital for the insane, at some point to be determined by commissioners of location, to be appointed by the Governor. The commission appointed by me selected a farm of two hundred and fifty-one acres near the city of Kankakee. An appropriation of two hundred thousand dollars was made for the purchase of land and the erection of buildings, the greater part of which has been expended by the trustees in the construction of those parts of the general plan essential to the running of the hospital, so that any portion which may be at any time completed and ready for occupancy by patients may be put in use immediately. The working department has been planned for an institution of sufficient capacity to care for at least eight hundred patients, many of whom will, of course, be chronic cases of insanity, and for these the hospital will be also an asylum. The trustees estimate the total cost of the hospital at Kankakee, for eight hundred inmates, on the plans suggested by the architect, at about $680,000, of which $200,000 has been already appropriated. I recommend the appropriation of such an amount as may be deemed advisable for the prosecution of the work of enlarging the capacity of the hospital, on such plan as your wisdom may dictate, so that the insane in our State may be more nearly all cared for. Of the necessity for this hospital there is no doubt, and that being admitted, the more energetically the work is pushed to completion, the sooner the State will reap the benefit of the investment already made, and the more cheaply and satisfactorily is the whole work likely to be accomplished. It will be necessary, also, to appropriate an amount sufficient for the maintenance of whatever number of patients the hospital will accommodate, until the time of meeting of the next General Assembly.

You will find in the reports of the hospitals for the insane some suggestions as to the changes in the law for the commitment of insane persons to the hospitals, and also as to the separation of the criminal from the non-criminal insane, which are important and should receive consideration at your hands. The question of the treatment of insane convicts is also discussed in the report of the Joliet Penitentiary.

CANAL.

The report of the Canal Commissioners is accompanied by the reports of their general superintendent and chief engineer, and contains everything needed for a full knowledge of their affairs. The expenses of administration and maintenance, with the necessary renewals of permanent structures, will continue to use the entire income of the canal.

The Illinois and Michigan canal has contributed largely to the growth and development of the State, and it is still of vital importance that it be kept in such condition as will insure its highest usefulness. Much remains to be done to carry out the original plans of the system of water communication between the lakes and the Mississippi river. The legislature should present the subject in the strongest manner to our representatives in congress, so as to impress upon them their duty to secure from the general government further aid for this work.

Situated as we are, dependent upon distant countries for a market for the bulky products of our soil, our people are especially interested in all matters affecting transportation. The water routes by the Lakes and the Mississippi river are of equal importance to them. We must do all we can to maintain and improve the connecting portion of the route which lies within our own territory. We are also equally interested in the improvement of the lower Mississippi river. Our growing trade with Central and South American States should be fostered in every legitimate way, and the shortest and most direct trade routes should be developed for the transportation of our products, and of those which we receive in return.

APPELLATE COURT.

The judges of the Appellate Court for the first district have made a report, which will be placed before you. There was no appropriation made by the last Legislature for the expenses of their court. They have rented rooms and bought necessary supplies, and thus incurred indebtedness, for the payment of which I recommend that an immediate appropriation be made. I call your attention to the remarks of the judges about a library for their use, for which provision should be made.

COMMISSION OF CLAIMS.

The Auditor has, in pursuance of law, included in his biennial report a detailed statement of all awards made by the Commission of Claims, at their session in August, 1878, and I recommend an appropriation for the payment of the claims allowed, which amount, in the aggregate, to $980 98.

LINCOLN AND DOUGLAS MONUMENTS.

The last General Assembly passed an act making an appropriation of $27,000 00 for the completion of the Lincoln Monument. The amount appropriated was drawn from the treasury, and, as will appear from the report of the Monument association, a portion of the fund was paid out for work done, and the balance is bearing interest and well secured, to be paid as the artist progresses with the additional groups of statuary on which he is now engaged. It is expected that by the time of the meeting of the next General Assembly, the Lincoln Monument will be completed without further cost to the State.

The same General Assembly passed another act appropriating $50,000 for the completion of the Douglas monument, at Chicago, and named nine commissioners to take charge of the work. The commissioners named in the act were among the most eminent men in the State, who were friends of the deceased statesman. They have made a minute report of the work and its cost, which shows, that when the figures on which the artists are now engaged are finished, the monument will be substantially completed, except the bas-reliefs, which are a part of the original design. The commissioners estimate that $9,000, in addition to the sum now on hand, will be required to finish the monument in all its parts, and provide means for taking care of it for the next two years. I respectfully recommend that this sum be appropriated.

The services rendered by Lincoln and Douglas to Illinois and the nation, the honor and fame conferred upon their adopted State by these patriots and statesmen, and the love which the people of our State cherish for their names and memories, render it unnecessary for me to do more than suggest the propriety of making such appropriations as will complete these monuments, and provide means for taking care of them for the years to come.

ESTIMATES.

The constitution makes it the duty of the Governor, in his message to the legislature, to "present estimates of the amount required to be raised by taxation, for all purposes." In obedience to the constitutional requirement, I submit the following estimates for the two years ensuing, the details of which, though not here given, have received my careful consideration :

ESTIMATES OF THE AMOUNT OF MONEY REQUIRED TO BE RAISED BY TAXATION FOR THE NEXT TWO YEARS.

For general State purposes.

Expenses of the several departments not enumerated below:

Legislative	$324,000
Executive	397,000
Judicial	537,000
		$1,148,000
Expenses of State Charitable Institutions and to construct Eastern Asylum for the Insane.....		1,600,000
Expenses of Universities.....		125,000
To construct Southern Prison, and to pay expenses of both Prisons.....		500,000
For conveying convicts and arresting fugitives.....		82,000
Illinois National Guard.....		50,000
Deficiencies: McClary	$82,000
Miscellaneous	40,000
		122,000
		$3,627,000

For State School purposes:

One million dollars per annum.....	$2,000,000
------------------------------------	-------------

The duty of providing "for all the appropriations necessary for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session," as well as of determining what appropriations are necessary, devolves upon the legislative department of the government. The estimate by the Governor merely serves as a basis upon which to begin the work of legislation. I may, however, without impropriety, call your attention to that clause of the constitution which declares that the amount of appropriations shall not "exceed the amount of revenue authorized by law to be raised," and suggest the importance of the task of adjusting the relation between income and expenditure, and of limiting the sum total to a reasonable and proper figure.

The expenses of a great State government like that of Illinois are necessarily great, even with the utmost economy in appropriations and expenditures. They are not large, however, in proportion either to our population or to our resources. The tax for State purposes is hardly felt by the people; our expenses are light in comparison with the cost of other governments of States of equal population with our own; but as the State grows, the cost of government grows also, and in many respects the complex relations of denser populations increase expenses in a more rapid ratio. In all that pertains to the construction of buildings, and, in a less degree, in all the expenses of running the State institutions, the purchasing power of money is greater than it has been for nearly twenty years, and it is only for this reason that it is possible to care for and support our State institutions, with their number and capacity alike largely augmented, without any very considerable increase in the aggregate of taxation.

Relying upon the patriotic zeal which you bring to the discharge of your duties, I look for a result from your labors which will redound to the welfare and honor of the State.

S. M. CULLOM,
Governor.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }
January 8, 1879. }

Mr. Granger withdrew his motion to refer the Senate resolution to a special committee, and moved to reconsider the motion of Mr. Trusdell to refer the resolution to the committee on contingent expenses.

Which motion prevailed.

The motion of Mr. Trusdell, that the Senate Resolution be referred to the committee on contingent expenses, when appointed, was carried.

Mr. Hopkins offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

Resolved, That Hons. James S. Jackson, Charles Churchill, Washington Cockle, John S. Dewey, O. B. Ficklin, Thomas B. Rogers, Starkey H. Powell, Wesley Trammell, Arnold Thomason, Henry Black, George E. Warren and J. N. English, be permitted to select seats before the drawing for seats shall begin; and that immediately upon their selection of seats, the Clerk be directed to place in a box the name of each member elect, with the exception of the names aforesaid, on separate pieces of paper; that the seats of this House be vacated, and that said box be well shaken by a page designated by the Speaker; and after being so shaken, said page shall draw from said box one of said pieces of paper and hand to the Clerk of this House, who shall call the name of the member drawn and announce the same, and the member whose name is so called shall select his seat.

By consent, the following names were inserted in the resolution, as entitled to choose seats before the drawing :

Messrs. Davis, Miles, Bower, Granger, Shaw and Herrington.

Mr. Allen, of Warren, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the clergymen of the city of Springfield are hereby respectfully requested, in such order as they may determine, upon their own convenience, to attend and open each daily session of the thirty-first General Assembly with prayer.

Mr. Hopkins moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on contingent expenses.

Which motion was lost.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary :

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, that on Tuesday the 31st day of January, inst., at 11 o'clock, a. m., each House shall by itself, and in the manner prescribed by sections 14 and 15 of Revised Statutes of the United States, of 1873 and 1874, name a person for Senator in Congress from the State of Illinois, for the term of six years, from the fourth day of March, A. D., 1879, and on Wednesday, the 22d day of January, instant, at 12 o'clock meridian, the members of the two Houses shall convene in joint assembly in the Hall of the House of Representatives, and in the manner prescribed by said law declare the person who has received a majority of the votes in each House, if any person has received such majority, duly elected Senator to represent the State of Illinois in the Congress of the United States, for the term aforesaid, and if no one person has received such majority, then proceed as prescribed in said law in joint Assembly, to choose a person for the purpose aforesaid.

The Speaker appointed the following named gentlemen as the committee on rules:

Mr. Wentworth offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That a joint committee of three on the part of the House and two on the part of the Senate, be appointed as a committee on joint rules.

The committee on rules made the following report, which was adopted:

RULES.

Report by Mr. Wentworth from the committee on rules:

The committee on rules, consisting of the Speaker and Messrs. Shaw, Mathews, Latimer, Herrington, Wentworth and Frew, having had the subject under consideration, make the following report:

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

DUTIES OF THE SPEAKER.

1. He shall take the Chair every day at precisely the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day. Shall immediately call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

2. He shall preserve decorum and order, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the House.

3. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, viz: As many as are of the opinion that (as the case may be) say "aye," and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "as many as are of the contrary opinion say no," if the speaker doubt or a division is called for, the House shall divide, those in the affirmative shall first rise from their seats and afterwards those in the negative.

5. The Speaker shall examine and correct the journal before it is read; he shall have a general direction of the hall; he shall have the right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond one day after an adjournment.

6. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially directed by the House.

7. All acts, addresses and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker, and all writs, warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House, shall be under his hand and seal, and attested by the Clerk.

8. In case of any disturbance, or disorderly conduct in the lobby or gallery, by the spectators, the speaker or chairman of the committee of the whole House shall have power to order the lobby or gallery to be cleared.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

9. The following shall be the order of business of the House:

1. The reading of the journal.
2. Petitions.
3. Reports from standing committees.
4. Reports from select committees.
5. Unfinished business and messages on the Speaker's desk.
6. Introduction of bills. (See Rule 10.)
7. House bills on first reading.
8. House bills on second reading.
9. House bills on third reading.
10. Senate bills on first reading.
11. Senate bills on second reading.
12. Senate bills on third reading.
13. Senate messages other than bills.
14. Resolutions.

Provided, however, that after the reading of the Journal each day, the House shall proceed with the regular orders commencing in the order upon which it was engaged at the time of the adjournment on the preceding day, first disposing of the particular business of the order which may have been pending at adjournment, and as soon as the regular orders have been thus called through, the call shall be resumed, commencing with the first order and proceeding in the same manner.

10. When the roll shall be called for the introduction of bills, each member may introduce three bills.

11. General appropriation bills, which contain provisions relating to nothing else than the appropriations, shall be in order in preference to any other bills unless otherwise ordered.

12. All questions relative to the priority of business to be acted on shall be decided by the Speaker without debate.

13. When a bill shall have been reported back to the House by a committee, with the recommendation that the same pass, it shall then be printed for the use of the House, but where the committee report that the bill do not pass, then the same shall not be printed unless ordered by the House.

14. The Clerk shall endorse on every bill the number thereof, the name of the member introducing it, the date of introduction, and the several orders taken thereon. And when printed, said several indorsements shall be printed at the head of the bill.

15. After a bill has been read the first time, the Speaker shall state that the bill is ready for commitment, or to be ordered to a second reading.

16. After a bill has been reported from a committee with the recommendation that it do pass, and that report having been concurred in, the Speaker shall state that the bill is ready to be ordered to a second reading, but no bill shall be read a second time, or considered in committee of the whole, until three days after it shall have been printed and deposited in the post office boxes of the members. The clerk shall, as soon as any bill is printed, place the same in the post office boxes of the members. Amendments to bills may be offered at the conclusion of the second reading, and all amendments to bills except amendments by striking out, shall be printed when adopted, and shall in like manner be deposited in the post office boxes of the members one day before such amended bill shall be read a third time. After the second reading of the bill and amendments, if any, the Speaker shall state that the bill is ready to be ordered engrossed for a third reading.

17. On the final passage of all bills the vote shall be by yeas and nays upon each bill separately, and shall be entered upon the Journal, and when a bill shall fail to receive a constitutional majority upon its passage, the Speaker shall declare that the bill has failed to pass, and no further action shall be taken on such bill except that a motion to reconsider said vote may be made by any member who voted against the passage of such bill, but such motion shall be made within two days after the vote to be considered was taken, and not more than one reconsideration shall be allowed upon the passage of any bill, Provided, That emergency bills that have been declared reconsidered under rule 18, shall thereafter be governed by this rule.

18. When an emergency is expressed in the preamble or body of an act, as a reason why such act should take effect prior to the first day of July next after its passage, and when such act contains a clause or proviso fixing such time prior to the first day of July, the question put shall be, "Shall the bill pass?" and if decided affirmatively by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to this House, then the bill shall be deemed passed, and if upon such vote, a majority of said members elected, but less than two-thirds thereof, vote affirmatively on said question, then the vote on said bill shall be deemed reconsidered, and the bill subject to amendment by striking out such part thereof as expresses an emergency and the time of taking effect, and then said bill shall be under consideration upon its third reading with the emergency clause and time of taking effect stricken out.

MISCELLANEOUS.

19. Every bill shall be read at large on three different days.

20. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is immediately and particularly interested.

21. Every member who shall be within the bar of the House when a question is put, shall vote, unless the House will excuse him.

22. The yeas and nays shall be taken on any question upon the demand of five members.

23. Upon the call of the House for the yeas and nays on any question, the names of the members shall be called in alphabetical order.

24. No person shall visit or remain at the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called; and in the performance of their duties, all Clerks of the House shall be under the supervision and control of the Speaker.

25. When a bill passes it shall be certified by the clerk, who at the foot thereof shall note the day it passes.

26. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House, may be presented by any member, who shall state briefly to the House the contents thereof, which may be received, read and referred on the same day.

27. In forming a committee of the whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman to preside in the committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

28. All questions, except as provided in rules 29 and 42, whether in the committee of the whole or in the House, shall be disposed of in the order in which they are moved, except that in filling up blanks the largest sum and the most remote day shall be first put.

29. The rule of proceeding in the House shall be observed in committee of the whole as far as may be applicable.

30. A majority of any committee shall be a sufficient number to proceed to business.

31. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order: The committee of the whole House, a standing committee, or a select committee.

32. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the Speaker or any member desire it.

33. When a motion is made it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if it be in writing, it shall be read aloud by the Clerk before debate thereon.

34. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the clerk, it shall be considered in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before decision or amendment, by leave of the House.

35. Any member may call for a division of the question when divisible, but a motion to strike out and insert shall be indivisible.

36. When a question has once been put and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof on the same or within the two next days of actual session of the House.

37. Whenever any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality, and no motion shall be considered in order unless made from the seat occupied by the member.

38. When two or more members rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is to speak first.

39. No member shall speak longer than thirty minutes at any one time, nor more than once on the same question, except by leave of the House, but the member who introduces a measure shall in all cases have the right to close the debate, and this right shall not be denied him even after the previous question has been ordered, although he may have spoken once on the same subject: Provided, the member so speaking shall not be allowed more time in all than is permitted by the rules of this House, to other members.

40. While the Speaker is putting a question, or addressing the House, or when a member is speaking, no person shall walk out of, or across the room, or pass between the member speaking and the chair, or entertain private discourse.

41. If any member in speaking or otherwise transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order.

42. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, a call of the House, to lie on the table, the previous question, to commit, to amend, to postpone to a day certain, to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged, and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

43. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

44. The previous question shall be in this form, "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by two-thirds of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and to bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made, and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, then upon pending amendments, then upon the main question; but its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. Whenever the House shall refuse to order the main question, the consideration of the subject shall be resumed as though no motion for the previous question had been made; the House may also at any time, on motion, seconded by a majority of the members present, close all debate upon a pending amendment or an amendment thereto, and cause the question to be put thereon, and this shall not preclude any further amendment or debate upon the bill. A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is seconded, unless it shall appear upon an actual count by the Speaker, that no quorum is present.

45. A motion for commitment, until it shall be decided, shall preclude all amendments of the main question.

46. A motion to lay any particular proposition on the table, shall apply to that proposition only.

47. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration, shall be admitted under color of amendment.

48. No member shall name another member present in debate.

49. No smoking shall be allowed in the hall, lobby and galleries.

50. All motions, resolutions or propositions involving expenditures of a contingent character for the House, shall be referred, without debate, to the committee on contingent expenses, for their report thereon, before final action is taken.

51. It shall be the duty of the Committee on engrossed and enrolled bills to examine all engrossed and enrolled bills, correct any mistake therein, and report the bills to the House; and it shall be in order for it to report at any time.

52. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in "Cushing's Manual," shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, or the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

53. If a question be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member who has spoken on the preceding day shall be permitted to speak again on the same question without leave.

54. Any two members shall have the liberty to dissent from and protest, in respectful language, against any act or resolution which they shall think injurious to the public or any individual, and have the reasons of their dissent entered upon the journal.

55. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick or unable to attend; any fifteen members shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

56. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made shall be entered on the journal.

57. Ten o'clock in the morning shall be the standing hour to which the House shall adjourn, unless otherwise ordered.

58. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate, and not subject to amendment.

59. No persons other than members and officers of the House, members and officers of the Senate, the Governor and State officers and their secretaries, ex-State officers, the judges of the Supreme court, ex-members of congress and members of congress elect, members of the last constitutional convention of this State, ex-members of the General Assembly, and the reporters of the press, shall be entitled to remain upon the floor of this House, without special permission.

60. No rule shall be dispensed with unless by the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present, except as otherwise provided for; nor shall any rule be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion thereof; but a new rule, not in conflict with existing rules, may be added, after such notice, by a majority vote.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The city of Chicago has suffered the loss of her Post office by fire, for the third time within eight years, causing great loss to the city and general Government, and embarrassing the business of the entire country; and

WHEREAS, The new Post-office and Custom House which the Government has undertaken at Chicago ought to have been completed years ago, thereby saving to the people many thousands of dollars paid out for rents and interest; and

WHEREAS, This series of calamities may be directly traced to the temporary nature of the premises used, and their general unsuitableness for the business of the Post-office, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, that our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested to urge the appropriation of a sum of money sufficient to complete and finish the new Custom House and Post-office without any further delay.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be authorized to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of our members of Congress.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
SPRINGFIELD, January 14, 1879. }

To the General Assembly:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the report of the Treasurer of the National Lincoln Monument Association, and the report of the Commissioners of the Douglas Monument at Chicago.

S. M. CULLOM, Governor.

NATIONAL LINCOLN MONUMENT ASSOCIATION, }
 SPRINGFIELD, ILL., December 31, 1878. }

To His Excellency, Shelby M. Cullom, Governor of Illinois:

SIR: In behalf of the National Lincoln Monument Association, the undersigned, Treasurer of the Association, begs leave to submit the following statement:

The Legislature of this State at their last session made an appropriation of $27,000 for the completion of the National Lincoln Monument. At the date when this appropriation became available (July 1, 1877) the Association was indebted to L. G. Mead, Esq., Sculptor, on the two groups of statuary delivered, $1,702.11, and $4,566.66, the first payment on the third group, ordered subsequent to the passage of the act making the appropriation, making the total indebtedness of the Association, July 1, 1877, $6,268.78.

The appropriation was drawn from the State Treasury by J. Bunn, Esq., on the order of the directors, on the 3d of July, 1877.

The indebtedness of the association was then discharged; the expenses attendant on placing the two groups of statuary in position, and other expenses incident thereto were paid, leaving a balance to the credit of the association December 1st, 1878, of $19,385.78.

This sum has been placed at interest and secured by good personal and collateral security, and is subject to call at any time as the same may be required by the association, to make the payments on the remaining groups of the statuary as the same may become due under the contract with Mr. Mead. The third group is due here during the year 1879.

The models for the statuary are prepared by Mr. Mead, in Florence, Italy, and the communication with him is somewhat broken.

Efforts have been made of late by the Secretary of the association to ascertain what progress has been made on the third group, but he has been unsuccessful.

The association hope to be in a position to make a tender of the monument, finished, to the 32d General Assembly, and to convey the entire property to the State as soon thereafter as the Legislature may make provision for a legal transfer. The monument having then become the property of the State, it will be incumbent on the Legislature to make provision for its custody and care and preservation.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES H. BEVERIDGE, Treasurer.

Mr. Dewey presented the following report of the select committee on ventilation, which, on motion of Mr. Hopkins, was referred to the committee on contingent expenses:

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

Your committee, to whom was referred the following resolution, to-wit :

Resolved, That a select committee of three be appointed, to take under consideration the ventilation of this hall, and report the name of some person competent to take charge of the same, and the cost thereof.

Have made a thorough examination of the ventilating apparatus, and find the same very defective. In company with the engineer of the state house, we carefully examined the flues in the attic for carrying off the foul air. We find that the coils generating heat, designed to create a draught in the columns, are placed some seventy feet above the registers in the columns, and the draught is consequently very weak. It is the opinion of the engineer, in which we fully concur, that if these coils were placed lower, the draught would be largely increased and the ventilation infinitely improved. This could be accomplished at an expenditure not exceeding six or seven hundred dollars, as we are informed and believe.

Your committee recommend that some suitable person be appointed to act as superintendent of ventilation of the hall, supervise the registers, and do everything necessary to keep a temperature not to exceed 85° to 70°; subject to the order of the Speaker, and to be paid as compensation therefor four dollars per day.

We recommend John Nycum as a suitable person for superintendent of ventilation.

JOHN S. DEWEY,
HORACE H. THOMAS,
WM. R. HALL.

Mr. Mathews offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the message of His Excellency, the Governor, be taken from the table, and that five thousand copies thereof be printed for the use of the House.

Mr. Mathews moved the adoption of the resolution, which motion was lost.

The Speaker appointed as such special committee:

Messrs. Sherman, Granger, Crooker, Ficklin and McKinlay.

The following Senate message was taken up and adopted:

Resolved, (by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That on Tuesday, the 21st day of January instant, at 11 o'clock A. M., each House shall by itself and in the manner prescribed by sections 14 and 15 of Revised Statutes of the United States of 1873 and 1874, name a person for Senator in Congress from the State of Illinois for the term of six years from the 4th day of March A. D. 1879, and on Wednesday, the 22nd day of January instant, at 12 o'clock meridian, the members of the two Houses shall convene in joint assembly in the Hall of the House of Representatives, and in the manner prescribed by said law declare the person who has received a majority of votes in each House—if any person has received such majority—duly elected Senator to represent the State of Illinois in the Congress of the United States for the term aforesaid; and if no one person has received such majority, then proceed as prescribed in said law in joint assembly to choose a person for the purpose aforesaid.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, There is a world-wide effort on the part of certain special interests to demonetize silver, and thus destroy as money one-half of the coin of the world, thereby causing a shrinkage of all values, prolonged through a series of years, deranging business and paralyzing industry and enterprise; therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate, the House concurring herein, That the silver dollar coming to us from colonial times, and as it existed under the republic for nearly a hundred years should be restored as a unit of value, with unlimited coinage, with the issue of bullion certificates, and all other privileges accorded to gold.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby requested to send attested copies of these resolutions to each of our Senators and representatives in Congress, with the request that they present them to their respective Houses as the voice of the people of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly; and that our Senators are hereby instructed, to labor zealously to so change the laws as to secure full and complete.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary :

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following joint resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That a joint committee of three on the part of the House, and of two on the part of the Senate, be appointed as a committee on joint rules, and also to inform the House that the President of the Senate has appointed on the part of the Senate, Senators Hamilton and Sherman.

W. Lusk. That the same be a daily publication, and contain each day, in detail, the proceedings of the two Houses, for the preceding day, and to be placed in each member's post-office box of the two Houses; provided that the price paid for said "Legislative Record" shall not exceed three cents per copy for each day's issue.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, There is a world-wide effort on the part of certain special interests to demonetize silver, and thus destroy as money one-half of the coin of the world, thereby causing a shrinkage of all values, prolonged through a series of years, deranging business and paralyzing industry and enterprise; therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate, the House concurring herein, That the silver dollar coming to us from colonial times, and as it existed under the republic for nearly a hundred years should be restored as a unit of value, with unlimited coinage, with the issue of bullion certificates, and all other privileges accorded to gold.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby requested to send attested copies of these resolutions to each of our Senators and representatives in Congress, with the request that they present them to their respective Houses as the voice of the people of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly; and that our Senators are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested, to labor zealously to so change the laws as to secure these results full and complete.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary :

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following joint resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That a joint committee of three on the part of the House, and of two on the part of the Senate, be appointed as a committee on joint rules, and also to inform the House that the President of the Senate has appointed on the part of the Senate, Senators Hamilton and Sherman.

ROBERT L. MCKINLAY.

Mr. Tice, chairman of the committee on contingent expenses of the House, made the following report:

Your committee, to whom was referred the following resolution, to wit:

WHEREAS, It is required by law that the House of Representatives shall, by resolution or as may otherwise be deemed expedient and determined, by a majority vote of the House, appoint, or cause to be appointed, not to exceed thirteen committee clerks; therefore,

Resolved, That the members of each group of committees, shall select for their group, the committee clerk;

Having had the same under consideration, and after careful consideration of the subject, your committee are of the opinion that to attempt to carry into effect the provisions of the above resolution, in making selection of clerks, would be impracticable, and lead to confusion, resulting in delay in properly organizing the committees of this House, for the work already before the House and awaiting the action of said committees. Therefore, I am instructed to report the following resolution as a substitute for the resolution referred to your committee by the House, and recommend the adoption of the substitute, to wit:

Resolved, That the several groups of committees, as reported to this House, by your committee, be allowed one clerk for each group, and that the chairman of the committee forming each group be authorized to select the clerk for the group, and that such clerk shall be engaged at such times as the business of committees of the respective group require the employment of a clerk, said clerks to be retained so long as their services are required by said committees, and when no longer required, the chairman of the group shall discharge such clerks. The committee clerks so employed to receive the per diem as fixed by law.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Gates, Assistant Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolution, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to wit:

WHEREAS, The Black Hawk War forms an important incident in the history of the great Northwest, and

WHEREAS, That war was waged on the part of the Government to shield life and property against the assault of hostile savage tribes, and with a success alike honorable to the country and the hardy volunteers who took part in it, and

WHEREAS, Now, at the end of near a half century, the few volunteers surviving are, in most instances, decrepit, as well as very aged, and

WHEREAS, A recognition by congress of their services, in a substantial form, according to the practice of that body in such cases, would both be acceptable and useful to them; therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That we respectfully memorialize congress in favor of the passage of the bill now pending before that body, providing for the allowance of bounties or pensions to the soldiers of the Mexican and other wars; so amended as that said bill shall include a like provision for the soldiers of the Black Hawk war.

Mr. Morrison offered the following resolution, and moved to suspend the rules for its consideration. Which motion prevailed.

Resolved, That rule No. 44, as adopted by this house, be rescinded; also that there be substituted for the same the following:—

44. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and to bring the house to a direct vote, upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made; and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments, then upon the main question. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the house to a vote upon such motion. Whenever the House shall refuse to order the main question, the consideration of the subject shall be resumed as though no motion for the previous question had been made. The House may also, at any time, on motion, seconded by a majority of the members present, close all debate upon a pending amendment, or an amendment thereto, and cause the question to be put thereon; and this shall not preclude any further amendment or debate upon the bill. A call of the house shall not be in order after the previous question is seconded, unless it shall appear, upon an actual count by the Speaker, that no quorum is present.

Mr. Trusdell moved that further consideration of the resolution be postponed until the next meeting of the House. Which motion prevailed.

The following Senate resolution was taken up and concurred in:

WHEREAS, The city of Chicago has suffered the loss of her post office by fire for the third time within eight years, causing great loss to the city and general government, and embarrassing the business of the entire country; and

WHEREAS, The new post office and custom house, which the government has undertaken at Chicago, ought to have been completed years ago, thereby saving to the people many thousands of dollars paid out for rents and interest; and

WHEREAS, This series of calamities may be directly traced to the temporary nature of the premises used and their general unsuitableness for the business of the post office; therefore, be it—

Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That our Senators and Representatives in congress be requested to urge the appropriation of a sum of money sufficient to complete and furnish the new custom house and post office, without further delay.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of our members of congress.

The following Senate resolution was taken up:

WHEREAS, There is a world wide effort on the part of certain special interests to demonetize silver, and thus destroy as money one-half of the coin of the world, thereby causing a shrinkage of all values, prolonged through a series of years, deranging business, and paralyzing industry and enterprise, therefore,

Resolved, by the Senate, the House concurring herein, That the silver dollar coming to us from colonial times, and as it existed under the republic for nearly a hundred years, should be restored as the unit of value, with unlimited coinage, with the issue of bullion certificates, and all other privileges accorded to gold.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby requested to send attested copies of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in congress, with a request that they present them to their respective houses as the voice of the people of the State of Illinois represented in the General Assembly, and that our Senators are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested, to labor zealously to so change the laws as to secure these results full and complete.

Mr. Allen, of Whiteside, offered the following substitute:

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the prohibition of the coinage of the United States standard silver dollar, of 412½ grains, 900 fine, by an act of congress in the year A. D. 1873, and its subsequent destruction by the same authority as a full legal tender in this country, whether by accident or design, were the inflictions of a great wrong upon the rights, interests, and welfare of the American people.

Resolved, That the present United States standard silver dollar should be rigidly maintained as a measure of value in this country, and its coinage should be as free and unlimited as that of gold coins, and silver co-equal with gold in all legal privileges and functions.

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House is hereby directed to furnish a copy of these resolutions to our Senators and Representatives in congress.

Mr. Hopkins moved to refer the resolution and substitute to the committee on federal relations, which motion prevailed.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Gates, Assistant Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives:

WHEREAS, It is of paramount importance to the people of this State that the river and lake advantages within and adjacent to its boundaries be kept in proper condition for the carrying on of commercial enterprises between the citizens of this State and other States and countries, and

WHEREAS, The State is possessed of many miles of frontage on Lake Michigan, one of the Great Lakes of North America, affording the commerce of this State an out-let through the great water highway to the Atlantic sea-board, and

WHEREAS, There are many points of danger to navigation on said lake frontage, and some points which could by a small out-lay of money be made commodious and safe harbors for lake shipping, aside from the port of Chicago, and

WHEREAS, The people of the northeastern portion of this State are now petitioning Congress, asking for an appropriation from the General Government for the construction of a harbor and life-saving station at Waukegan, in Lake county, in this State, said harbor having formerly been of great advantage to the agricultural interests of the people of said locality, as furnishing a means of shipping produce direct to the markets of the east, but having of late fallen into disuse on account of the formation of sand bars at the mouth of the Waukegan river, and many serious accidents have within the last few years occurred at said place to our lake shipping, therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That our Senators in congress be instructed, and our Representatives be requested, to obtain from the General Government an appropriation for the construction of a harbor and life-saving station at Waukegan, in this State.

Resolved, further, That the Secretary of State is hereby instructed to send certified copies of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in congress assembled.

By consent, Mr. Hinckley offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the committee on militia be instructed to inquire into the causes which gave rise to the necessity of a State military organization; to ascertain whether or not those causes still exist, and report such measures as may be by them deemed appropriate; and that said committee be further instructed to diligently inquire into the necessity of appropriating eighty-two thousand dollars to pay the national guards for services rendered.

The following Senate resolution was taken up:

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That it is with much gratitude and thankfulness that we recognize as an accomplished fact, the resumption of specie payment, thus restoring confidence, placing on a more healthful and permanent basis the business and commercial interests of our country, with every indication of a sure and speedy revival of trade and industries.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in congress, and to the Honorable Secretary of the Treasury of the United States.

Mr. Frew offered the following substitute:

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein, That we believe that the financial policy of forcing the people to specie payments, by contracting the volume of currency from 1866 to 1878, produced the stagnation in manufactures and agriculture, strangled trade and commerce, destroyed values and confidence, depreciated prices and wages, reduced to want and poverty more families than were engaged in the war for our independence, created an army of tramps and beggars, greater in number than were in the army for the union, filled the country with the financial agonies of bankruptcy, distress and misery, more terrible than war.

Resolved, That the legal tender notes could have been maintained on par with coin by simply receiving them for any dues to the government, and would have been so received but for the congress yielding to the cormorants of the nation in her hour of peril; and if the greenbacks had been so received by the government, they would have remained and continued at par with gold, as did the demand notes of 1861 during the war; and since John Sherman, for the want of sufficient coin to carry out the resumption act, has been compelled to abandon its enforcement, and instead thereof, to receive greenbacks for duties on imports, thereby removing any demand for gold, and by his arrangement with the clearing house to receive greenbacks, and with the monied kings not to present their greenbacks for the present for redemption, which policy, together with the aid of the act remonetizing of silver, enables him for the present to temporarily maintain the greenbacks at par; but as such a policy depends on the will of these persons, there is great danger of a change; hence, to prevent greenbacks from again being depreciated or cancelled and removed from the currency of the country, we instruct our United States Senators and request our congressmen each to exert himself to secure a law making greenbacks a full legal tender for all purposes; and also, for the reissuing the currency retired since 1866, in like quantity as retired, or so much thereof as can be maintained on par with coin to be used in the expenses of the government, or the purchase of bonds or bullion to be coined, or the payment of bonds, where so provided, or otherwise as may be necessary, redeemable in coin in a like quantity at the option of the government.

Resolved, That the national bank currency be retired as rapidly as practicable, and their place be supplied by legal tender notes of a like quantity.

Resolved, That silver bullion be coined upon the same terms and conditions as gold, and that a dollar shall contain 412½ grains, and shall be a legal tender for all purposes; that any person depositing either silver or gold bullion with the United States treasurer shall be entitled to receive therefor certificates of like denominations as legal tender notes—as may be desired by such person, the sums of which shall be of the same quantity as if said bullion had been coined, which certificates shall be a full legal tender for all purposes, redeemable in bullion at the option of the government.

Resolved, That a faithful carrying out of the foregoing resolutions will restore the country to prosperity, create confidence, give employment to every laborer, place the manufacturer, the tradesmen, and all on the road again to comfort, wealth and happiness.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished each of our members of congress, and our U. S. Senators.

By CALVIN H. FREW,
Paxton, Ford Co., Ill.

House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Graef.

The journal of Monday, January 27th, was read and approved.

The journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Mr. Ranney offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The biennial visits of the various committees to the state institutions involves great expense to the state, and retards legislation; and

WHEREAS, A smaller number can investigate and examine into the condition of the public institutions more efficiently; therefore, in the best interests of the public service,

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the following committees of the House of Representatives and Senate, to-wit: State Institutions, Public Charities, Public Buildings and Grounds, Penitentiary and Education, be authorized and directed to appoint sub-committees, to consist of three members from the House and two from the Senate, from each of the aforesaid committees, who shall visit and report upon the condition of the public institutions of the State, each committee to visit those institutions whose interests it represents.

Mr. Shaw moved to refer the resolution to the committee on contingent expenses.

Mr. Speaker ruled that the resolution go to the committee on contingent expenses, under the rules.

The hour of 10:30 o'clock a. m., having arrived, the Speaker announced that the following resolution was the special order for this hour:

Resolved, That rule No. 44, as adopted by this House, be rescinded; also, that there be substituted for the same the following:

44. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and to bring the house to a direct vote, upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made; and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments, then upon the main question. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. Whenever the House shall refuse to order the main question, the consideration of the subject shall be resumed as though no motion for the previous question had been made. The House may also, at any time, on motion, seconded by a majority of the members present, close all debate upon a pending amendment, or an amendment thereto, and cause the question to be put thereon; and this shall not preclude any further amendment or debate upon the bill. A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is seconded, unless it shall appear, upon an actual count by the Speaker, that no quorum is present.

Mr. Fosbender moved to indefinitely postpone the resolution.

On demand, the ayes and nays were called.

Those voting in the affirmative are:

Resolved, That rule No. 44, as adopted by this house, be rescinded; also that there be substituted for the same the following:—

44. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and to bring the house to a direct vote, upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made; and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by a committee, if any; then upon pending amendments, then upon the main question. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the house to a vote upon such motion. Whenever the House shall refuse to order the main question, the consideration of the subject shall be resumed as though no motion for the previous question had been made. The House may also, at any time, on motion, seconded by a majority of the members present, close all debate upon a pending amendment, or an amendment thereto, and cause the question to be put thereon; and this shall not preclude any further amendment or debate upon the bill. A call of the house shall not be in order after the previous question is seconded, unless it shall appear, upon an actual count by the Speaker, that no quorum is present.

Mr. Carter, of Adams, offered the following joint resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, For the want of sufficient and well improved harbors on the Mississippi river, there is great annual destruction of steamboats, barges and other water crafts, by the breaking up of ice, and by storms on said river, involving losses of the greatest magnitude to the shipping interests of the whole Mississippi valley; and,

WHEREAS, The Quincy bay, at the city of Quincy, in the State of Illinois, is one of the best natural harbors on said river, embracing, as it does, a body of still water more than three miles in length, and of sufficient width and depth, except in a few places obstructed by sand bars, to afford a safe and convenient shelter and harbor for vessels navigating the Mississippi river; and,

WHEREAS, By the expenditure of a comparatively small amount of money, considering the magnitude of the shipping interests involved, in the improvement of the Quincy bay, it would become a safe and convenient harbor for vessels navigating said river, therefore, be it,

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the Representatives and Senators in Congress, from the State of Illinois, be, and they are hereby requested to use all honorable means to secure the permanent improvement of the Quincy bay, by the Government of the United States, in such a manner as to make it a safe and permanent harbor on said river; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be, and is hereby requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of the Representatives and Senators in Congress, from the State of Illinois.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of the State, at its session in the year 1823, foreseeing the great future that lay before the people of Illinois, provided for "the appointment of commissioners to devise, consider and adopt such measures as might be requisite to effect the communication by canal and locks between the Illinois river and Lake Michigan;" and

WHEREAS, On the 17th day of January, 1825, the General Assembly adopted the report of said commissioners, and duly incorporated the Illinois and Michigan canal; and

WHEREAS, On January 20, 1826, the General Assembly instructed and empowered the Governor to negotiate for loans of money to begin and carry on the construction of said Illinois and Michigan canal; and

WHEREAS, The General Assembly, at its session in 1829-31, memorialized the Congress of the United States to aid by donations of land this important water way; and

WHEREAS, The succeeding General Assemblies did regularly and liberally appropriate moneys out of the State treasury in aid of said Illinois and Michigan canal, up to the session of 1849, when a settlement, in full, was had with the trustees of said Illinois and Michigan canal, which showed that a grand total of $6,557,791 50 had been expended by Illinois on its behalf; and

WHEREAS, From that date to the present the General Assembly has liberally appropriated other sums, amounting in the aggregate to many millions of dollars more, in aid of the construction of the Illinois and Michigan canal; and

WHEREAS, There exists in the minds of a large portion of the people of this State a grave doubt as to whether the General Assembly ought ever to have begun the construction of this vast national waterway, at the expense of the people of this State; and

WHEREAS, The Federal Government is regularly and liberally providing for the construction of waterways not nearly so necessary for the promotion of the arts of peace, or for being transformed into lines of defense in times of war, as would prove this Illinois and Michigan canal, when enlarged and deepened into a ship canal; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein, That a joint committee of two from the Senate and three from the House be hereby constituted, with power to investigate this question, and report at an early day what, if any, legislation is necessary to provide for a cession to the Federal Government of all the right, title and interest the State of Illinois now holds in the real and personal property, of the Illinois and Michigan canal; Provided, that, in consideration of such cession, the Federal Government will agree to assume control, and carry on and complete the enlargement of said canal into a ship canal of capacity not less than vessels of ——— tons burden.

I recommend these suggestions as worthy of your careful consideration:

S. M. CULLOM, Governor.

A message from the Governor, by Edward F. Leonard, Private Secretary.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
 SPRINGFIELD, January 31, 1879. }

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I have the honor to transmit herewith the final report of W. A. Looney, J. C. Willis and W. L. Hamilton, who were appointed, under act of April 11, 1873, Commissioners to build a soldiers' monument at the National Cemetery near Mound City.

S. M. CULLOM, Governor.

Mr. Tice made the following reports, which were adopted:

Your committee on contingent expenses, to which was referred the following resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be and he is hereby directed and authorised to furnish to the Enrolling and Engrossing Clerk of this House, upon his written order, all necessary supplies for his office; said orders to be approved by the Speaker of the House.

Having duly considered the same, recommend that said resolution be amended by inserting after the word "office," the words "and no more;" and with said amendment, recommend that said resolution be adopted.

Your committee on contingent expenses, to which was referred the following resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, That each bill or resolution ordered printed by the House shall be limited to 300 copies, unless otherwise directed.

Having carefully considered the same, recommend that said resolution be amended by striking out the figures "300," and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "500;" and with said amendment, recommend that said resolution be adopted.

Your committee on contingent expenses, to which was referred the following resolution to-wit:

WHEREAS, The biennial visits of the various committees to the state institutions involves great expense to the state and retards legislation; and

WHEREAS, A smaller number can "investigate and examine into" the condition of the public institutions more efficiently; therefore, in the best interest of the public service, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the following committees of the House of Representatives and Senate, to-wit: State institutions, public charities, public buildings and grounds, penitentiary and education, be authorized and directed to appoint sub-committees, to consist of three members from the House and two from the Senate, from each of the aforesaid committees, who shall visit and report upon the condition of the public institutions of the state; each committee to visit those institutions whose interests it represents.

Having had the same under consideration, instruct me to report the same back, with a recommendation that it be not adopted.

Your committee on contingent expenses, instructs me to report to the House the following resolution, to-wit:

Resolved, That each member of the committees visiting state institutions be required to keep an account of the money actually paid out for necessary expenses, and no more.

And ask that the same be adopted.

Mr. Shaw made the following report:

The special joint committee appointed for the purpose of framing joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives, respectfully report the following joint rules, and recommend their adoption.

JOHN M. HAMILTON, Chairman.
JAMES SHAW,
GEO. W. HERDMAN.
WILLIAM L. GROSS.

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

1. When a message shall be sent from the Senate to the House of Representatives, it shall be announced at the door of the House by the doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated to the chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

2. The same ceremony shall be observed when messages shall be sent from the House of Representatives to the Senate.

3. Messages shall be sent by such persons as a sense of propriety in each house may determine to be proper.

4. In every case of disagreement between the two houses, if either house requests a conference, and appoints a committee for that purpose, the other house shall appoint a committee to confer therewith upon the subject of their disagreement. Said committee shall meet at a convenient time to be agreed upon by their chairman, and having conferred freely, each shall report to its respective house the result of their conference. In case of agreement the report shall be first made, with the papers referred accompanying it, to the disagreeing house, and there acted upon; and such action shall be immediately reported by the clerk to the other house, the papers referred accompanying the message. In case of disagreement the papers shall remain with the house which referred them. The agreeing report of a conference committee shall be made, read, and signed in duplicate by all the members of the committee, or by a majority of those of each house, one of the duplicates being retained by the committee of each house. Should either house disagree to the report of the committee, such house shall appoint a second committee, and request a second conference, which shall be acceded to by the other house before adhering. The motion for a committee of conference, and the report of such committee, shall be in order at any time. When both houses shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolution is lost.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two houses, they shall be accompanied by a message signed by the secretary or clerk (as the case may be) respectively.

6. After a bill has passed both houses it shall be enrolled before it is presented to the Governor.

7. When bills are enrolled they shall be examined by a joint committee, of two members from the Senate and three from the House of Representatives, which joint committee shall consist of members of the standing committees on enrolled and engrossed bills of both houses. Said committee shall carefully compare the enrolled bills with the engrossed bills so passed by both houses, correct any errors which may be discovered in the enrolled bills, and make their report forthwith to their respective houses; the secretary or clerk having previously certified on the margin of the roll in which house it originated.

8. After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective houses, first by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and then by the President of the Senate.

9. After a bill shall have been signed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, it shall be presented by said joint committee to the governor for his approval.

The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the governor, to each house, which time shall be carefully entered on the journal of each house.

10. All resolutions and memorials which are to be presented to the governor shall be previously enrolled, examined, signed and presented by the joint committee, reported, and entry thereof made, as provided in case of bills.

11. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one house is rejected in the other, information thereof shall be given to the house in which the same shall have passed.

12. When the consideration of any bill, memorial or resolution which has originated in one house shall be postponed in the other house to a day so distant that it will not be taken up again by the present session, the house in which such bill, memorial or resolution shall have originated shall be forthwith informed of such postponement.

13. When a bill, memorial or resolution which has passed one house is rejected in the other, it shall not again be introduced during the same session except in the house so rejecting, and after three days notice and leave of that house.

14. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

15. While the two houses are acting together upon elections or any other matter, the Speaker shall preside, and all questions of order shall be decided by him, subject to an appeal to both houses, as though but one body was in session. A message from the Senate by Mr. Paddock, secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has passed a bill of the following title, in the passage of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

Senate Bill No. 63, a bill for "An act to amend section (1) one of an act entitled 'An act concerning corporations,'" approved April 18, 1872, in force July 1, 1872.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Paddock, secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following amendment:

Amend by inserting after the word "investigate" "whether a cession of said canal to the General Government is desirable, and if so to etc.;" and to strike out the words "this question and" after said word "investigate," to the following preamble and joint resolution:

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of the State, at its session in the year 1822, foreseeing the great future that lay before the people of Illinois, provided for "the appointment of commissioners to devise, consider and adopt such measures as might be requisite to effect the communication by canal and locks between the Illinois river and Lake Michigan;" and

WHEREAS, On the 17th day of January, 1825, the General Assembly adopted the report of said commissioners, and duly incorporated the Illinois and Michigan canal; and

WHEREAS, On January 20, 1826, the General Assembly instructed and empowered the Governor to negotiate for loans of money to begin and carry on the construction of said Illinois and Michigan canal; and

WHEREAS, The General Assembly, at its session in 1829-31, memorialized the Congress of the United States to aid by donations of land this important water way; and

WHEREAS, The succeeding General Assemblies did regularly and liberally appropriate moneys out of the State treasury in aid of said Illinois and Michigan canal, up to the session of 1849, when a settlement, in full, was had with the trustees of said Illinois and Michigan canal, which showed that a grand total of $3,557,791 50 had been expended by Illinois in its behalf; and

WHEREAS, From that date to the present the General Assembly has liberally appropriated other sums, amounting in the aggregate to many millions of dollars more, in aid of the construction of the Illinois and Michigan canal; and

WHEREAS, There exists in the minds of a large portion of the people of this State a grave doubt as to whether the General Assembly ought ever to have begun the construction of the vast national waterway, at the expense of the people of this State; and

WHEREAS, The Federal Government is regularly and liberally providing for the construction of waterways not nearly so necessary for the promotion of the arts of peace, or for being transformed into lines of defense in times of war, as would prove this Illinois and Michigan canal, when enlarged and deepened into a ship canal; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That a joint committee of two from the Senate and three from the House be hereby constituted, with power to investigate this question, and report at an early day what, if any, legislation is necessary to provide for a cession to the Federal Government of all the right, title and interest the State of Illinois now holds in the real and personal property, of the Illinois and Michigan canal: Provided, that, in consideration of such cession, the Federal Government will agree to assume control, and carry on and complete the enlargement of said canal into a ship canal of capacity not less than vessels of ——— tons burden.

The Speaker presented the following communication :

STATE OF ILLINOIS, SECRETARY'S OFFICE, }
SPRINGFIELD, January 31, 1879. }

Hon. William A. James, Speaker House of Representatives, Thirty-First General Assembly:

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt this day, of a copy of a resolution adopted by the House of Representatives, on the 29th inst., which reads as follows, viz :

"Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby requested to report to the House the total amount of expenses connected with, or in any way appertaining to the registration of the voters of this State, said report to state in detail the cost of blanks, per diem of members of the boards of registration, and all other expenses incurred by the last registration made under the laws of this State."

In responding to said resolution, it is my desire to give all the information within my power, which may be officially known to me, but I presume it is known to the members of the House of Representatives that the Secretary of State has no official connection with the registration of voters of this State, except so far as is set forth in the law upon this subject, which reads as follows :

"SECTION 18. The necessary blanks for making the registers required by law, shall be prepared by the Secretary of State, and transmitted to the persons entitled to receive them, in the same manner that blank returns of elections are now transmitted. (Revised Statutes 1874, page 471.)"

Therefore, while I cannot give as fully as required by the resolution, all the information requested, I have the honor to transmit herewith a statement showing the entire cost of the blanks for the registration of voters, and sent by the Secretary of State to the several county clerks of the counties in the State, viz :

There were printed, ruled and stitched for the use of the several counties in which to register the list of voters for the last registration, 9,200 election registers, with paper covers, at a cost of 3 cents each, amounting to the sum of $276.00. There was used for these registers 99 reams of paper, costing $4.50 per ream, amounting to the sum of $435.50. There was also used 10 reams of manilla paper for covers of the same, which cost $2.38 per ream, amounting to the sum of $23.80. There were also printed 5,500 election laws in pamphlet form, which were transmitted with the election registers, the printing of which cost the sum of $28.04. There were also used 12 reams of paper upon which these laws were printed, at a cost of $3.97 per ream amounting to the sum of $47.64. The stitching and binding of the election laws cost $20.63.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, Secretary :

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolutions, to-wit:

WHEREAS, For the want of sufficient and well improved harbors on the Mississippi river, there is great annual destruction of steamboats, barges and other water craft, by the breaking up of ice, and by storms on said river, involving losses of the greatest magnitude to the shipping interests of the whole Mississippi valley; and,

WHEREAS, The Quincy bay, of Quincy, in the State of Illinois, is one of the best natural harbors on said river, embracing, as it does, a body of still water more than three miles in length, and of sufficient width and depth, except in a few places obstructed by sand bars, to afford a safe and convenient shelter and harbor for vessels navigating the Mississippi river; and,

WHEREAS, By the expenditure of a comparatively small amount of money, considering the magnitude of the shipping interests involved, in the improvement of the Quincy bay, it would become a safe and convenient harbor for vessels navigating said river; therefore, be it.

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the Representatives and Senators in Congress, from the State of Illinois, be, and they are hereby requested to use all honorable means to, secure the permanent improvement of the Quincy bay, by the Government of the United States, in such a manner as to make it a safe and permanent harbor on said river; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be, and is hereby requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of the Representatives and Senators in Congress, from the State of Illinois.

To the Honorable Members House of Representatives, State of Illinois:

GENTLEMEN: A resolution introduced in the House yesterday, by Hon. J. C. Snigg, requests the Adjutant General to state the cause of delay in the publication of his report at the time required by law, and as to why the statute has not been complied with in regard to the same.

I have the honor to state that my report was made to the Governor at the date required by law; that it was placed in the hands of the State Printer on or about the 21st day of December, 1878; that a portion of the same has been printed, and proof corrected, but that a portion of the same remains to be completed. The reasons for delay can better be given by the State Printer Expert, who is entirely familiar with the causes.

The House will doubtless understand that I have no power to compel the State Printer to complete the report at any given date. My report for 1878 was not ready for distribution until some time in February, 1877. I am of the opinion that no time is fixed by the terms of the contract when the printed reports shall be submitted or completed. I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

H. HILLIARD, Adjutant General Illinois.

The communication was referred to the committee on printing.

The Speaker announced as the additional members of the committee on license for the sale of liquors, authorized under the resolution of yesterday: Meier, of Cook, Veile, of St. Clair.

By consent, Mr. Taylor, of Cook, introduced a bill, House Bill No. 367, for "An act to amend section 8 of an act entitled 'An act to establish appellate courts,'" approved June 2, 1877, in force July 1, 1877.

Mr. Gross, from the committee on municipal affairs, made the following reports:

The committee on municipal affairs, to whom was referred that part of the Governor's message relating to municipal debt, as this House has a standing committee on state and municipal indebtedness, your committee respectfully beg leave to report the same back, and recommend that it be referred to the committee on state and municipal indebtedness.

MUNICIPAL DEBT.

The Auditor, in his report, furnishes you with a very valuable and instructive table of the municipal debt of the state, in which he shows that it aggregates $51,811,691.

The larger part of this debt has been incurred in making useful and necessary local improvements, and is represented by valuable municipal property. About thirty per cent. of this total of municipal debt, represents the railroad aid debt of the municipalities of the state. The constitution of the state now forbids all counties, cities or other municipalities from making subscriptions to capital stock, or donations in aid of any railroad or private corporation, and further forbids the incurring of any indebtedness to an amount including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per cent. on the value of the taxable property therein. These are wise and fortunate provisions, and under them the municipal debt of the state is now decreasing, and will for some years continue to decrease. The use of municipal credit for any extravagant or unnecessary purpose to such extent as would be a serious injury to the municipality, is impossible under our present constitution.

The report was concurred in.

Mr. Gross, from the committee on municipal affairs, made the following reports:

The committee on municipal affairs, to whom was referred House Bill No. 9, being a bill for "An act in relation to the disconnection of territory from cities and villages," respectfully beg leave to report the same back with an amendment, viz:

Mr. Mock, from the committee on militia, made the following report, which was adopted:

Feb. 4th, 1879.

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-first General Assembly of the State of Illinois:

Your military committee, to whom was referred the resolution of Mr. Hinckley, have carefully considered so much of said resolution as relates to the present necessity of a state military organization; beg leave to report:

The necessity of an organized militia in this state cannot be considered as an open question, since the people have ordained and declared, in their fundamental law, the constitution of 1870, such necessity to exist; and in that solemn instrument have cast upon the General Assembly the duty and obligation of providing for the organization, equipment and discipline thereof. This provision of the fundamental law of the commonwealth rests upon the very nature of government itself, and the recognized obligation of the state to protect the person and property of the citizen.

In the light of the events of the last two years, and with that experience so fresh in the minds of every member of this honorable body, we find ourselves compelled to recognize the wisdom which provided the state with a citizen soldiery in that hour of its urgent need.

Nor can your committee find any pleasure in contemplating the possible loss of life and destruction of property which, in the absence of the state militia, might have resulted from the conditions then existing.

Without such an organization, there might have been presented the strange and shameful spectacle of an armed mob, defying wholesome laws; overawing civil authority; interrupting the industries of a great state; destroying commerce and trade; forcibly preventing the transportation of the United States mail—in short, paralyzing the energies and industries of the whole state; while the executive, charged with the enforcement of the laws, and required to see that the state take no harm, would have been compelled to stand in utter helplessness, at the command of an infuriated, murderous mob.

In the judgment of your committee, a well organized, equipped and disciplined state militia, is not only desirable, but is an absolute necessity to the state, which we, as representatives of the people, cannot safely ignore.

Impressed as we are, with the necessity of an economical administration of public affairs, we yet believe that the public welfare imperatively demands the continued existence of a wise and well considered militia law.

Mr. Neff, from the committee on banks and banking, made the following report:

Bill No. 51, a bill for "An act to amend section 28 of an act entitled an 'Act to revise the law in relation to liens, approved March 25, 1874'" was taken up and read at large a second time, and the question being, "Shall the bill be engrossed and printed for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

Bill No. 98, A Bill for "An act making appropriation in aid of the Illinois state horticultural society," was taken up and read a second time.

On motion of Mr. Pearson, the bill was referred to the committee on appropriations.

House Bill No. 121, a bill for "An act to amend section 67 of an act entitled 'An act to extend the jurisdiction of county courts, and to provide for the practice thereof, to fix the time for holding the same, and to repeal an act therein named,'" approved March 26, 1874, in force July 1, 1874, was taken up, and read at large a second time, and the question being, "shall the bill be engrossed and printed for a third reading?" it was decided in the affirmative.

House Bill No. 20, a bill for "An act in regard to practice before justices of the peace," with the following amendments reported by judiciary committee:

First—Add to section one the words "or may be found," after the words "shall reside."

Second—Add also to the section the following clause: "And the summons in such cases shall be made returnable not earlier than 8 o'clock a. m., not later than 4 o'clock p. m., on the return day thereof."

Was taken up, and read at large a second time.

Mr. Sexton offered the following amendment:

Amend House Bill 20 by inserting after the word "town," in the third printed line, the words "or precinct."

Which amendment was adopted.

Mr. Sexton offered the following amendment,

Amend by inserting after the word "summons" the words, "or other process."

Which amendment was adopted.

Mr. Gross moved to strike out the enacting clause of the bill.

Mr. Hopkins moved the previous question.

And the question being, "Shall the main question be now put?" it was carried in the affirmative.

The question recurring on the motion of Mr. Gross to strike out the enacting clause of the bill, on demand the ayes and nays were called.

Those voting in the affirmative are:

Messrs. Allen of Whiteside, Brumback, Carter of Adams, Churchhill, Chase, Collins, Dewey, Durfee, Elliott, English, Ewing, Ficklin, Graham, Granger, Gross, Hall of Tazewell, Hamilton, Hinckley, Holden, Jones of Christian, Lewis, McBride, McKinlay, Mock, Moss, Neal, Neff, Nichols, Otman, Pearson, Peters, Pratt, Prickett, Ranney, Robison of Fulton, Richey, Samuel, Scarlett, Scott, Scroggs, Secrest, Seiter, Shaw, Taylor of Winnebago, Thomason, Tyler, Walsh, Zink—48.

Those voting in the negative are:

Messrs. Bolt, Blabee, Buck, Butterworth, Byers, Carter of Johnson, Clark, Crooker, Dysart, Eldredge, Foy, Frew, Gregg, Halliday, Hammond, Hinds, Hopkins, Jackson, Johnson, Keniston, Mason, Mathews, Meier, Mellbeck, Morrison, Murray, Orendorff, Price, Provart, Savage, Sexton, Sherman, Sloan, Spencer, Stevens, Taylor of Cook, Thomas, Thompson of Cook, Trusdell, Veile, Weber, Wentworth, Wheeler, Wilson, Zimmerman, Mr. Speaker—46.

And the motion prevailed.

The committees on public charities and public institutions were excused for the purpose of making their trip to the state institutions.

Mr. Wright, of Boone, was excused on account of sickness.

Mr. Mitchell was excused.

Mr. Walsh gave notice that he would move to reconsider the vote by which the motion of Mr. Gross, to strike out the enacting clause of House Bill No. 20, prevailed.

Mr. Granger moved to reconsider the vote by which the resolution offered by Mr. Hopkins, on the day before yesterday, was lost.

Pending consideration of Mr. Granger's motion, the House,

On motion of Mr. Hopkins, at 12:55 o'clock p. m., adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1879—10 o'clock A. M.

House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Brents.

On motion of Mr. Trusdell, the reading of the journal of yesterday was dispensed with.

Mr. Trusdell offered the following resolution, which was adopted :

This House having learned of the sudden death of the wife of our respected brother member, the Hon. H. W. Wall; therefore,
Resolved, That we extend to him our sincere sympathy in his affliction, and grant him indefinite leave of absence.

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House forward to him a copy of this resolution.

Mr. Peters was granted leave of absence.

Mr. Meier offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on labor and manufacturing :

WHEREAS, The Trade and Labor Council of Chicago and vicinity have expressed their desire to have a special committee appointed, to examine into the condition of the working classes; and

WHEREAS, Said Trade and Labor Council is composed of twenty-two trade and labor unions, representing the entire working people of the state; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of this House shall appoint a special committee of five, who shall visit the city of Chicago, and such other places as may be deemed necessary, to obtain such information as may be required, for the members of this House to enact such laws as will ameliorate the condition of the working people of this state.

The resolution was accompanied by a communication.

By consent, Mr. Robison, of Fulton, introduced a bill, House Bill No. 376, for "An act to amend section 1 of an act entitled 'An act to exempt certain personal property from attachment and sale on execution and distress for rent,'" approved May 24, 1877.

The title was read, and the bill was referred to the committee on judiciary.

Also, by consent, Mr. Robison, of Fulton, introduced a bill, House Bill No. 377, for "An to amend an act entitled 'An act to provide for the incorporation of cities and villages,'" approved April 10, 1872, in force July 1, 1873.

The title was read, and the bill was referred to the committee on municipal affairs.

Mr Tice made the following report of the joint committee of the 30th General Assembly to investigate damages caused by the construction of the dams at Henry, on the Illinois river, and at New Haven, on the Little Wabash river:

To the Honorable, the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, in General Assembly convened, at the capitol in the City of Springfield, on the 8th day of January, A. D. 1879.

The JOINT COMMITTEE appointed by the last, the 30th General Assembly of the State of Illinois, to investigate claims for damages caused by the construction of the dams at Henry on the Illinois river, and at New Haven, on the Little Wabash river, and report, as provided in the following joint resolution, viz :

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, that a committee of five be appointed—three by the Speaker of the House, and two by the President of the Senate; and that it shall be the duty of such committee to investigate at some favorable time during the present year, all claims for damages caused by the construction of the dams at Henry, on the Illinois river, and at New Haven, on the Little Wabash river, and report:

1st. The number of acres of land owned by such individuals damaged by reason of the construction of the dam on the Illinois river at Henry, and of the dam on the Little Wabash river at New Haven, with a full description, location, etc., with reference to said dam, the names of the present owners of said lands, and the different conveyances thereof, if any, since such dams were constructed.

2d. The value of such lands prior to the construction of such dams.

3d. The value of such lands since the construction of such dams.

4th. The amount of damages, if any, to each tract of land, and also the damage to any and all other property injured by reason of the construction of said dams.

The said committee to be authorized, if they find necessary so to do, to employ a clerk and to send for persons and papers, and to examine witnesses, under oath, as to the questions aforesaid; and to visit the premises and to take such testimony, and to report to the House and Senate of the next General Assembly.

The members of said committee, and the clerk, shall be allowed at the rate of five ($5) dollars per day for the time actually and necessarily employed in such examinations, and actual traveling expenses, but no other compensation for performing the duties herein required: Provided, That no member of the Senate or House of Representatives residing in any county or district where any of such overdowed lands are located, shall be appointed on said committee.

Beg leave to report that in pursuance of said resolution and their appointment under the same, the undersigned, as such committee, met at the city of Springfield, on the twenty-third day of May next ensuing their appointment, and organized by the election of William R. Archer, as chairman, and after having considered the resolutions, authorizing their appointment and defining their duties, adjourned to meet at Peoria, on the Illinois river, on the 9th day of July, 1877.

Your committee further report that they met at Peoria on the ninth of July, and from thence proceeded to the city of Henry, the location of the dam on the Illinois river, and in company with members of the board of canal trustees, and D. C. Jenne, the engineer employed in the construction of said dam, they visited and inspected the same and certain lands alleged to have been damaged thereby. From the number of claimants, the quantity of land said by them to be damaged, the necessity of making a personal examination thereof, and taking and preserving the testimony upon the questions submitted to them by said resolution, your committee began to realize the magnitude and importance of the duties they had undertaken, and the difficulties they would necessarily encounter in their performance.

The taking and preserving in writing all the testimony, for a proper consideration and review of the questions involved, led your committee to exercise their discretionary power of employing a clerk, whose services have been necessary throughout the whole of our investigations. Your committee proceeded from the city of Henry up the right bank of the Illinois river, through Putnam, Bureau and LaSalle counties, on a tour of inspection of the lands claimed to be damaged by the construction of the dam at Henry, to determine as far as practicable from personal observation, whether or not said lands were damaged as alleged, and, if so, from what cause and to what extent; such personal examination of the premises your committee deemed necessary to a correct judgment upon the questions submitted for their consideration. This personal examination of property alleged to have been damaged appears to have been anticipated by the resolutions, and in order not only to carry out the spirit of the resolutions, but to arrive at a correct estimate to be put upon much of the very contradictory testimony presented, your committee, throughout its sittings, devoted a considerable amount of time and labor to such personal examination of lands, and other property alleged to have been damaged.

Your committee, after considering the form and manner of presenting claims, adopted a "printed form," and furnished the same to claimants and their attorneys. They also gave public notice of the time and manner of conducting their examinations, so that no one need feel aggrieved from want of knowledge that this examination was being made.

For the convenience of claimants and witnesses, and easy access to records, evidence was taken at Princeton, in Bureau county; Hennepin, Putnam county; and Henry, in Marshall county. The committee found the claimants represented by able counsel, and the state without an attorney. On conference with the Governor and Attorney General as to the necessity of counsel for the state, it was agreed that it was important that the opposing interests of claimants should be represented by an attorney. Having no authority under the resolution to procure counsel, it was necessary for the committee either to proceed without counsel on the part of the state, or go beyond the authority of the resolution. The committee finally agreed that the state might be represented by Charles C. Warren, Esq., of Princeton, who has rendered valuable aid to the state and the committee in conducting the various cases upon the part of the state, with the understanding that the committee would recommend to your honorable body the payment of a reasonable fee for his services, which we now, and hereby respectfully do.

The evidence in the various claims, as well as voluminous testimony taken on the part of the state, has been reduced to writing, and the same is filed herewith, and made a part of this report, together with the abstract of conveyances. Much of this evidence is contradictory, and some of it given, we fear, with the intention of mulcting the state in heavy damages. To carefully sift out the truth, or rather the approximate truth, by personal examination and otherwise, has been a matter of serious labor to this committee, the results of which are respectfully submitted in our recommendations for damages as set forth in "docket" marked No. "1."

For the convenience of the committee in conducting their examinations, they had before them a map of the original government survey of the lands claimed to have been damaged, made in 1817, and also a map of the Illinois river and its bottom lands, the location of the dam at Henry, etc., made by the United States engineers in 1867. (Marked Exhibit "A.") The latter was offered in evidence on the part of the state; its correctness, however, as to lands submerged previous to the building of the dam, was called in question by a number of witnesses, both on the part of the claimants and the state.

The dam at Henry causes an elevation of the water immediately above the dam of seven feet above the low water mark of 1871; at Hennepin, twelve miles above, of six feet; at DuPue, sixteen miles above, of five and one-third feet; at LaSalle, the southern terminus of the Illinois and Michigan Canal, of four and one-third feet. This elevation of the water is permanent, and lands and other property reached by it, and a further rise sufficient to bring the water above and below the dam to a level, are more or less injured by its construction.

The number of claims on the Illinois river is 209, a few of which are duplicates, aggregating $171,043; $156,543 for damages to lands, and $12,500 of the balance for damages to three fishing interests in Lake Senachwine, and $2,000 for the destruction of a public highway. Of the amount claimed for damages to lands, your committee would recommend that $34,219 be paid, and for the fisheries, in case it is thought by the General Assembly that the claimants are legally and equitably entitled to anything, $2,500—all on account of claims as fully set forth in docket No. "1."

The lands upon which damages are claimed are of various qualities, some being originally low, and of very little value. A higher grade was valuable principally for pasture and timber, but on which no improvements have been made. A still higher grade was susceptible of cultivation in corn, and portions of which had been tilled for a series of years previous to the construction of the dam.

Your committee would invite attention to claims numbered "89," "93" and "101," being claims for the fisheries above referred to, alleged to have been damaged by the backwater from the dam at Henry. These fisheries were in Lake Senachwine, Putnam county; said lake having an outlet into the Illinois river. The claimants in these cases are Timothy Wood, George Sparling and Hannah Locke. They claim title to the land embraced in the lake, or the major portions of it, it having been sold after survey by the general government as other public lands. The waters of this lake, except in times of freshets, are supplied from springs on its margin and small tributary streams. It is claimed that these fisheries were originally very valuable, and that the backwater from the dam has in a great measure destroyed them. Inasmuch as these claims involve legal propositions which are perhaps beyond the province of this committee to determine, it is recommended that the legal and equitable liability of the state for damages of this character, be made a subject of investigation before any final award is made.

Claim number "133" is filed by the town of Senachwine for damages to a public highway, and is for two thousand dollars. In this claim it was shown that the town of Senachwine had expended several hundred dollars for "right of way" and improvements of the highway, and that the road was destroyed by backwater from the dam. Your committee regarded this highway as a public easement, in which the town of Senachwine had no exclusive property, but which was common to the general public; that it was not such private property as could not be taken or damaged for public use without compensation. On this claim no damage is recommended.

Your committee would further report that they met at Carmi, in White county, on the tenth day of October, 1877, for the purpose of investigating claims for damages caused by the construction of the dam in the Little Wabash river at New Haven, in Gallatin county. Eighteen claims were docketed here, all of which were for alleged damages to bottom lands bordering on the river, caused by backwater from the dam, except claim number "1," which was for damages to a mill or water power, at the town of Carmi. The same course was pursued in the claims on this river as in those on the Illinois, and our recommendations as to damages are presented in the same form.

The dam in the Little Wabash is located at the town of New Haven. Its construction was at first undertaken by a private corporation, and its object was to improve the navigation of the river by slackwater. When partially finished by this corporation, funds failed, and the state was induced through the General Assembly to appropriate thirty-five thousand dollars for its completion, and assume the ownership and future control of the improvements. The act for this purpose was approved March twelfth, 1869, and the canal trustees at once assumed the control and management of the completion of the work. The dam was completed in the fall of the same year, and the pool at once filled. It is sixteen and one-half feet high, with lock for the passage of boats.

The backwater extended to the dam at Carmi, referred to in claim number "1," on this river, a distance of thirty-one miles, where it raises the water about four feet. The purposes sought to be attained by this improvement were in a great measure rendered useless by the construction of several important railways in this section of the state. The slackwater was for a time utilized for purposes of navigation, but now, except for local traffic between the towns of New Haven and Carmi, and intervening points, is not used. The local traffic is not large in amount, yet if the means for its continuance can be retained to the people of this section of the state, without rendering the state at large liable for damages, it is but proper and right it should be done.

The aggregate of damages on this river is not large, and the claimants, except in claim No. one (1), generally agreed that they will be satisfied without any allowance upon this claim if the state so change the dam as to in great measure remove the cause of injury to their property; which is generally agreed by claimants and those interested in the slack water improvement, can be done by lowering it from four to five feet. On this point your committee beg leave to refer to the testimony of Chancey S. Conger, the engineer who planned this work, and under whose superintendence it was completed. Also, to that of Richard Jessup, who has had large experience in the construction of dams, mills, &c., as to the probable cost of lowering the dam, which it is generally agreed need not exceed $500, or at most $1,000, depending on the character of the change.

Your committee found the lock at this dam in such condition that it cannot be used, even in case of need, without considerable repair. Some expense will be necessary on the part of the state for repairs to this improvement, or there is great danger that it will soon become useless for the limited purposes for which it is now used.

The only element of apparent difficulty in making the change aside from the cost, appears in the fact that the canal trustees, soon after the completion of the dam, leased the water-power to private individuals for a term of fifty years, they to pay the state at the rate of about one dollar per day for the first ten years, and at the expiration of each ten years the amount to be paid to be adjusted by an appraisement of the property by disinterested parties, the lessees to pay six per cent. on the valuation; yet the dam can be lowered from four to five feet, and still give all the water-power needed for the purposes for which it is now used.

Claim No. 1, on the Little Wabash river previously referred to, is that of George S. Staley and Aaron Lichtenberger, and is for damages to a mill property or water-power, at Carmi, thirty-one miles above the dam at New Haven. At this point the backwater is four (4) feet, and as appears from the evidence, so seriously interfered with the operation of the water wheels, as to render the mill property comparatively worthless. Changes were, however, made in the dam at Carmi by raising it three feet, and in the character of the wheels, by which the mill property was made almost as valuable as before the interference by the backwater from the state dam at New Haven. This improvement cost the claimant about $6,000. The claim is for $25,000, and your committee, after a careful examination of the case, beg leave to recommend that in said claim, in case the dam at New Haven is not lowered as suggested, $8,300 be allowed, but in case the New Haven dam is lowered from four to five feet, only $5,000 be paid.

The aggregate of claims on the Little Wabash river is $37,630, $25,000 of which is for damages to the mill property. The balance, $12,630, is for damages to land by reason of overflow. In case the change in the dam suggested is made, your committee would recommend that no damages be allowed on the land, as the cause in a great measure will be removed, and the claimants will be satisfied. In case the change in the dam is not made, it is recommended that $5,570 of the amount claimed on lands be paid, and on account of claims as set forth in our docket No. 1 at large.

While your committee were engaged in taking testimony at Carmi, they were visited by citizens of White county, who presented petitions directed to the General Assembly, asking that all the dams in the Little Wabash be removed. They were taken in care by your committee, and are herewith respectfully presented.

After taking the evidence and making personal examination of the property alleged to have been damaged, by the various claimants, your committee devoted some time to a careful review of all matters presented, and have summarized their conclusions in reference to the various claims in detail, in docket No. 1, accompanying this report. Your committee find in a number of cases, from the evidence, and from the abstracts of title furnished, there are two claimants for damages to the same tract of land. One, the owner before the completion of the dam, and the other, the grantee since the dams were built. Your committee deemed it no part of their duty to decide between these claimants, but have reported the testimony, and the estimated damages to each particular tract of land claimed to have been damaged; leaving the question of the party entitled, in case any damage should be paid, to the General Assembly. In a few cases; where property claimed damaged has changed owners since the construction of the dam, a private contract exists between the parties as to the disposition of the award, in case any should be made by the state. Our detailed statement in docket No. 1, in connection with the abstracts of title attached to each claim, fully sets forth these facts.

The abstracts above referred to, in many instances, do not show perfect title, but they are frequently supplemented by evidence showing possession and payment of taxes, under color of title, for a sufficient length of time to remove the difficulty. Considering the various complications which arise in reference to the party entitled, and titles, it is recommended that, in case the General Assembly makes an appropriation for damages to this property, that it only be paid on presentation to some proper authority of satisfactory evidence that the claimants are the parties entitled.

Your committee, in conclusion, beg leave to say, that from the nature of the questions submitted to them, it would hardly be expected they would be able to adjust and settle the same, and avoid all errors. They have arrived at their results largely reducing the amount of damages claimed, not only from the testimony of the witnesses for claimants, but from witnesses summoned on the part of the state, from maps, and from personal observation. From the testimony alone, no reliable or satisfactory conclusions could have been determined. Frequently, lands adjacent and of like value were estimated very differently as to values, both before and since the dams. Besides, an examination of the weather reports and water gauges for the years 1870 and 1871—the seasons from which values previous to the construction of the dam at Henry were probably estimated—shows these years to have been very dry, and the years 1875, 1876 and 1877, the years tending to modify the estimate of values since the construction of said dam, were comparatively wet ones, the witnesses may have tried to give what they believed a fair statement of the facts, and still have been far from the truth; and further, many of the witnesses advanced contradictory theories in reference to the action of the back-water, and its effect upon the lands, charging the dams with damage for which they were not in any way liable. Your committee endeavored to make proper allowance for all these contradictions, and report what they believe a reasonable compensation for damages to property effected by reason of the dams, to which we were directed to make examination by the resolutions of appointment and instruction.

Your committee would also beg leave to submit herewith arguments of attorneys for claimants, and by the attorney on the part of the state, to which attention is called.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was referred to the committee on claims.

Mr. Johnson offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the chairmen of the several committees be requested to confer with each other, and agree, if possible, upon a programme by which their several committees may meet, and not conflict one with another, thus giving the members an opportunity of meeting with their several committees.

Mr. Bridges presented a petition from the citizens of the town of Sheffield, asking that the name of their town be changed to Rock Bridge.

Which was referred to the committee on municipal affairs.

Mr. Fosbender offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, By joint resolution of the present General Assembly, a special committee has been appointed to take steps looking to the cession of the Illinois and Michigan Canal to the General Government; and

WHEREAS, The magnitude and importance of the subject will necessarily cause the deliberations and negotiations of said committee to consume more time than the remainder of the time that the present General Assembly will be in session; and

WHEREAS, The evident result of the slow and extended deliberations of said committee will be to delay and defeat legislation for the immediate and much needed relief of the canal; therefore,

Resolved, That the committee on canals and rivers is hereby urgently instructed to report without delay all necessary legislation for the relief and protection of the canal.

Mr. Wheeler, from the committee on drainage, made the following report:

The committee on drainage, to whom was referred House Bill No. 378, being a bill for "An act to provide for the construction, reparation and protection of drains, ditches and levees across the lands of others, for agricultural, sanitary and mining purposes; and to provide for the organization of drainage districts," respectfully beg leave to report the same to the House, and recommend that it be read a first time and ordered to a second reading, and 2,000 copies printed for the use of the House.

And the report of the committee was adopted, and the bill was read a first time, and ordered to its second reading.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, secretary:

MR SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has passed bills of the following titles, in the passage of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit :

Senate Bill No. 47, a bill for "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act concerning conveyances,' approved March 29, 1872."

Senate Bill No. 67, a bill for "An act to amend sections 10 and 25 of an act entitled 'An act to revise the law in relation to replevin,' approved February 9, 1874, in force July 1st, 1874."

Senate Bill No. 118, a bill for "An act to amend section two (2) of an act entitled 'An act to revise the law in relation to fences,' approved March 21st, 1874."

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Paddock, secretary :

MR. SPEAKER : I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit :

WHEREAS, During the late rebellion, there was unavoidably great destruction of property in the Southern states; and

WHEREAS, Immense sums of money have been appropriated and applied by the Congress of the United States for the payment of claims made against the government, for property alleged to have been so destroyed or taken by the Union armies during said rebellion; and

WHEREAS, There are yet large numbers of such claims unsettled, the merits of which are in doubt; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, that our Senators and Representatives in Congress be, and are hereby, requested to favor such legislation as will forever estop the expenditure of moneys for the payment of such claims. And be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be, and he is hereby instructed to send a certified copy of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

Mr. Frew offered the following resolution :

WHEREAS, Repeated complaint has been made by John Colvin, of Ford county, Illinois, of the cruel treatment of himself and others by some of the attendants in the employ of the Insane asylum, at Jacksonville, Illinois, while such persons were therein as patients; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Illinois, That a special committee of five be appointed to investigate the treatment of the patients therein, or discharged heretofore; and of the treatment of said John Colvin, or any others where complaint is made of cruel treatment by any person in or connected with any of the asylums, and report the same to this House.

Resolved, That the Chairman of the committee be, and he is hereby empowered, and shall have authority to subpoena any witnesses, to administer an oath, and require the same to testify on oath, or make a statement, as deemed best, and to do any act or thing in the premises necessary to give full effect to these resolutions, and may imprison any person for contempt who refuses to obey the orders of said committee.

Resolved, That when any of the patients of any of the insane asylums shall be called before said committee, that then, during the presence of such person before the committee, none of the managers or employees of such asylum shall be present before such committee.

Mr. Brigham offered the following amendment, which was accepted by Mr. Frew :

Strike out that part instructing the Speaker to appoint said committee, and insert "that the committee on public charities be authorized to appoint a sub-committee to investigate," etc.

Mr. Carter, of Adams, by consent, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on revenue:

WHEREAS, It is provided by the constitution of this State, among other things, that "The General Assembly shall provide such revenue as may be needful by levying a tax, by valuation, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his, her, or its property;" and

WHEREAS, By reason of the enactment of an imperfect system of revenue laws, this provision of the constitution has not been carried into effect, and large interests in property of various kinds have escaped the payment of their proper proportion of taxes, thereby casting additional and unjust burdens upon other property interests; and

WHEREAS, It is the paramount duty of the present General Assembly to prepare and enact such revenue laws as will most effectually remedy the evils arising under the present system, and most completely carry into effect the provisions of the constitution of this State, relating to taxation; and

WHEREAS, We believe that by the co-operation of the two Houses and of the Governor of the State, in the appointment of a commission to sit during the present session, to prepare a bill to revise the present revenue law, or to enact a new one, as might be deemed most advisable, and report the same to the present session of the two Houses, the General Assembly could the more effectually and promptly, and with the least expense, meet the needs and requirements of the people of all parts of the State, in relation to the assessment and collection of revenue; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that the best practical skill and experience in the assessment and collection of revenue, and in laws relating thereto, whether in or out of the General Assembly, should be represented on said commission; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That there shall be appointed a commission consisting of eleven persons, for the purpose of preparing a bill for a complete revenue code, or for such change or changes in the present revenue laws as shall seem best; which commission shall be appointed and constituted as follows: The chairman of the revenue committee of the Senate and two other members of the Senate, to be chosen by that house in such manner as it shall prescribe; the chairman of the revenue committee of the House of Representatives and four other members of that House, to be chosen in such manner as it shall prescribe; and three other persons learned and skilled in matters and in the law pertaining to the assessment and collection of revenue, from the body of the commonwealth, outside of the General Assembly, to be appointed by the Governor.

Resolved, That it shall be the duty of said commission to prepare a bill for a complete revenue code, or for a revision of the present revenue laws, as may seem to them best for the interests of the entire state, and to submit the same as soon as practicable to the present session of the General Assembly.

Resolved, That such commission shall be appointed, and shall convene and commence its sittings at the capitol at the city of Springfield, within ten days after the adoption, by the two Houses, of these resolutions; it shall elect its own chairman, and shall continue its sessions until such work is completed, subject to the complete control of the two Houses of the General Assembly by joint resolution; it may regulate its own adjournments, and its members shall, if they so desire, stand excused from serving on any other committee of either House—provided that said commission shall be dissolved by the adjournment, sine die, of the General Assembly.

Resolved, That said commission may select a clerk, and if necessary one assistant, and one doorkeeper or messenger; said clerk or clerks and doorkeeper or messenger to receive the same compensation as is now allowed to committee clerks of either House; and said commission shall have power to send for persons and papers, and require reports from all state and county officers on subjects pertaining to the duties of the commission.

Resolved, That the members of such commission from the Senate and House of Representatives shall receive no additional compensation, but the members which shall be appointed by the Governor shall be allowed the same per diem and mileage as is allowed by law to members of the General Assembly.

Resolved, That the expenses of said commission, including the pay of members appointed by the Governor, the clerk or clerks and doorkeeper or messenger, shall be paid from the fund which shall be appropriated by law for the expenses of the General Assembly; and the Secretary of State is hereby directed to furnish said commission all necessary stationery and other conveniences for its use while in session, on the requisition of the commission, signed by its chairman; provided that nothing contained in these resolutions shall deprive the revenue committee of either house of the rights and powers conferred, or relieve it from the duties imposed upon it, by the House from which it was appointed.

Mr. Neal offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on license for the sale of liquors:

Resolved, That the committee on license and the sale of liquors be instructed to inquire as to the propriety of the adoption of what is known as the "Moffett register," as a means for the better and more efficient collection of state and municipal revenues, and report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Mileham offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on revenue:

WHEREAS, The seriously depressed condition of all kinds of business throughout the state calls for the immediate and earnest attention of its legislators, to use their best efforts in lightening the burthen of taxation for all its people, and particularly for the working classes; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee on revenue be, and they are hereby instructed, to prepare and report a bill to this House, providing that any person holding or owning any notes, deeds of trust, or other written obligations, whereby he receives any income, and failing to return the same to the assessor, as other property subject to taxation, shall forfeit the annual interest thereon to the debtor of said notes, trust deed or other written obligation, upon the debtor, or any other person, giving such information and substantiating the same.

Mr. McBride offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on revenue:

WHEREAS, There now exists a very large amount of individual indebtedness throughout the State, bearing a higher rate of interest than any business will justify in the present depressed condition of business matters, which fact has a tendency to prevent such a revival of the business industries as the best interest of our State demands; and

WHEREAS, While a dollar in money has a greater purchasing power now than it had heretofore, this fact does not lessen the amount of any debts which have heretofore been contracted; but, on the contrary, does increase the burdens of the debtor class; and

WHEREAS, It is a matter of first importance that the debtor class should have such relief as is within the power of this Assembly to provide for; and

WHEREAS, Under our present revenue law, the debtor class are in many instances required to pay taxes upon property for which they may wholly owe, while the creditor also virtually pays upon the same property; and experience having shown that it is next to impossible to frame any revenue law that will enable all debtors to get their just credits, without the same giving an opportunity for a large class of persons to evade listing all of their property, which should be assessed; and

WHEREAS, At present the debtor class are virtually paying double taxes upon all their interest bearing indebtedness—first, a tax upon the property for which they owe, and secondly, high enough interest, so as to pay the interest, and the tax upon the note which his creditor holds against him; and

WHEREAS, A sufficient reduction of interest upon all individual indebtedness, would furnish immediate relief to the debtor class; and

WHEREAS, The improved real estate of Illinois—where the soil is inexhaustible, and the variety, quantity and quality of its productions, and the industry of its citizens are unsurpassed anywhere—should, with proper legislation, furnish as good security as could reasonably be desired by the most careful of investors and thereby procure for the debtor class of this state, the use of money at as low a rate of interest as the same can be had for anywhere; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee on revenue be instructed to report an amendment to our present revenue law, which shall exempt from taxation all notes of hand secured by a mortgage or deed of trust running for a period of one year or longer, and dated after the second day of May, 1879, and drawing a rate of interest not exceeding seven per cent. per annum.

Mr. Gregg presented a petition from citizens of Saline county, asking time for the payment of taxes for the year 1878, which was referred to the committee on revenue.

Mr. Harts offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The report of the Superintendent of the Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, does not give an itemized statement showing the amount paid on behalf of said institution for salaries and wages, to persons employed for the year 1877 and 1878; and

WHEREAS, The salaries and wages paid for the two years named amount to the sum of $74,978.36, more than 45 per cent. of the entire expenses, repairs and improvements connected with said institution; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the superintendent of the institution or asylum for the Deaf and Dumb, furnish this House with the following information, at his earliest convenience, to-wit: a list of all persons to whom any money has been paid during 1877 and 1878, for employment or service; giving the amount and rate so paid each person per month or per annum, with the nature of his or her employment; whether any person so employed were clothed or fed by said institution; whether any person so employed had leave of absence from his duties during the time named, and if so, for what period or periods of time; and whether any payment was made for the time or times so absent, giving the amount so paid, if any, and to whom.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the board of public charities, and to the superintendent of the institution of the Deaf and Dumb, by the clerk of this House, immediately upon its adoption.

Mr. Granger offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the committee on revenue be instructed to make report to this House—1st. What changes, if any, are necessary and advisable to be made to the present revenue laws of this state.

2d. Whether in their judgment, such changes can be best matured and prepared for adoption by and during an open session of the legislature, or by a select committee appointed for that purpose; and

3d. If by a committee, is it advisable to have others than members of the two Houses on the committee.

Mr. Wheeler offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on contingent expenses:

WHEREAS, The State is paying $2.50 per 1,000 feet for gas to light the State house; and WHEREAS, The gas bills for lighting the same now amount to from five to seven hundred dollars per month; and

WHEREAS, The State, by owning its own gas works and manufacturing its own gas, can save at least $2 per 1,000 feet on all gas consumed; therefore, be it

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to examine into the matter of a more economical lighting of the State house and other state institutions.

Resolved, further, That this committee shall examine, and report by bill or otherwise, upon all the improved apparatus for the economical manufacture of illuminating gas, from soft coal or other material, giving such statistics as are available, and concerning the invention found to be most practical and economical for the purpose of manufacturing gas from soft coal.

Mr. Tice presented a petition from citizens of Ogle county, asking for law prohibiting the licensing of sale of intoxicating liquors, which was referred to the committee on license for the sale of liquors.

Mr. Hopkins offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, Section 29 of an act concerning fees and salaries, and to classify the several counties of this State with reference thereto, approved March 29, 1872, in force July

1, 1873, provides that the members of the board of commissioners of Cook county shall each receive the sum of two dollars and fifty cents per day for the time actually and necessarily engaged in the discharge of his duties, and mileage five cents each way, for necessary travel, and no other allowance or emolument, directly or indirectly, for any purpose whatever; and

WHEREAS, Certain members of said board are now receiving, and have for a long time heretofore been receiving, the sum of five dollars per day for their services; therefore,

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the State, and he is hereby ordered, to examine and report to this House whether, in his opinion, the said commissioners are entitled to receive any other or further compensation for their services than two dollars and fifty cents per day, and mileage as aforesaid.

Mr McKinlay offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The Secretary of State has reported to this House the cost of blanks furnished at the last registration of voters of this State, and being unable to report the per diem of the members of the boards of registration; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Committee on Elections report to this House the amount paid to boards of registration as per diem, as nearly as the same can be ascertained.

Mr Granger offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on contingent expenses:

WHEREAS, A necessity exists for a further janitor; therefore,

Resolved, That Solomon Jones be selected and appointed as such janitor.

Mr. Churchill presented the following memorial, which was referred to the committee on appropriations:

MEMORIAL.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Illinois:

The undersigned, Board of County Commissioners of the county of Wabash, represent. That on the 4th day of June, 1877, Mt. Carmel, the county seat of said county, was devastated by a tornado, which besides destroying seventeen human lives, and wounding and maiming more than one hundred persons, resulted in the loss of public and private property of the aggregate value of a quarter of a million of dollars. A part of the public property totally wrecked, included the court house with its furniture and equipments; and the loss carefully estimated in the destruction and damage of county property was $28,900.

They further represent that the court house and clerks offices, with all the public records of said county, were totally destroyed by fire on the 5th of April, 1857. By the use of its credit the county re-built its public buildings in the following years, and from the time of their completion to their destruction by the storm above referred to, they were constantly kept insured against loss by fire. But by no exercise of prudence could the loss resulting from the recent calamity have been provided against.

The people of the State of Illinois, in adopting the constitution now in force, have in effect prohibited the people of Wabash county from using their own means and credit for the purpose of re-building their public buildings, as they were permitted to and did do on the occasion of the former destruction. The county indebtedness exceeds, and did at the time of the adoption of the constitution, exceed the limit now fixed by section twelve of the ninth article, and it is neither practicable nor possible under any other authority conferred by the constitution and laws to raise the amount of money necessary for this purpose, and at the same time meet the annual demands of the State treasury, ordinary county expenses and obligations arising from indebtedness incurred prior to 1870.

Nor can the necessary accommodations be obtained through private enterprise, limited as the powers of the Board of County Commissioners are to such extent that they have no authority to enter into a contract by which private capital might be induced to supply the requisite buildings.

The circumstances of Wabash county thus appear to be of a character so exceptional as never to have been anticipated when the organic law was framed. Since the State has in other exceptional instances extended its aid to other localities, in view of our utter helplessness—this helplessness resulting, not from our own acts but from the action of the people of the State in placing restrictions upon us, your memorialists believe they may equitably ask favorable consideration of the bill now pending, entitled "An act to reimburse the county of Wabash for loss and damage of public buildings by tornado."

JAMES W. TANQUARY,

LUKE A. MILLER,

SILAS ANDRUS.

Board County Commissioners Wabash County.

JANUARY, 1879.

NOTE.—County indebtedness (State Auditor's report, 1878, page 226), $186,110 00.

Mr. Wall presented a petition from the grand jury of Logan county, relating to the Lincoln Mining Company, which was referred to the committee on mines and mining.

Mr. Durfee offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on revenue:

WHEREAS, The practice of assessing real estate and personal property at a fair cash valuation, thereby making the valuation of taxable property, large in the aggregate, both for the state and municipal divisions thereof, has had the effect, heretofore, to stimulate and encourage municipalities to increase their indebtedness, and also to levy large sums by taxation to be prodigally used in doubtful improvements and extravagant current expenses; and

WHEREAS, The increase in the amount of taxable property by virtue of such valuation has not had the effect, in many instances, to decrease the rate per centum of taxation, but has developed a proneness to keep the rate of taxation up to the full constitutional limit; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the revenue committee are hereby instructed to take into consideration the propriety of so amending the revenue law, that all valuations for the purposes of taxation shall be made upon the basis of one-third of a fair cash value of all objects subject to taxation.

Mr. Thomson, of Will, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on militia:

WHEREAS, There exists in some localities a conviction that the militia of the State have not been, in all cases, called out in accordance with law, and that the expenses of the militia were not, in all cases, legally incurred; and

WHEREAS, The committee on militia have not touched on this subject in their late report; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee on militia be, and they are hereby instructed, to diligently inquire whether the militia have been, in all cases, called out by the lawful authorities of the localities where the militia have been ordered or stationed at any time, and whether the expenses of the militia were, in all cases, incurred according to law.

Mr. Thomson, of Will, offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on education:

WHEREAS, There is a universal feeling throughout the State, which has found expression in the newspapers, that the Industrial University at Champaign is not managed in accordance with, and does not follow the policy and intent of the laws creating it, and its charter; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the committee on education be, and they are hereby instructed to diligently inquire as to the truth of the allegations made, and as to whether the system of education followed in this university is in accordance with the statutory requirements, and that the committee have power to report by bill or otherwise.

The committee on counties and township organization, to whom was referred House Bill No. 319, being a bill for "An act to amend section seventy (70) of an act in regard to roads and bridges in counties under township organization, approved May 26, 1877, in force July 1, 1877," respectfully beg leave to report the same back with the following amendment: after the word "may" in line seventeen (17) insert the words "in its discretion," and recommend that it do pass as amended.

And the report of the committee was adopted, and the bill as amended ordered to its first reading.

The committee on counties and township organization to whom was referred House Bill No. 135, being a bill for "An act authorizing the support of paupers by townships," respectfully beg leave to report the same back with the following amendment: after the word "county" in line eight, insert "upon the petition of fifty legal voters of said county," and recommend that it do pass as amended.

The report was concurred in, and the bill as amended was ordered to a second reading.

The committee on counties and township organization, to whom was referred House Bill No. 199, being a bill for "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act in regard to roads and bridges in counties under township organization,' approved May 26, 1877," respectfully beg leave to report the same back, and recommend that it be referred to the committee on roads, highways and bridges.

And the report of the committee was adopted.

The regular order of business was begun with the motion of Mr. Granger to reconsider the vote by which the following resolution was lost:

WHEREAS, Section 39 of an act concerning fees and salaries, and to classify the several counties of this State with reference thereto, approved March 22, 1872, in force July 1, 1872, expressly declares that the board of county commissioners of Cook county shall each receive the sum of two dollars and fifty cents per day; and,

WHEREAS, The said board of commissioners of Cook county are now receiving, and have been for a long time past the sum of five dollars per day, which is in direct violation of the law; therefore Resolved, by the House, the Senate concurring herein, That the Attorney General of the state be and is hereby ordered to commence proceedings against said board of county commissioners, and bring them before the bar of justice, that the letter of the law be vindicated.

The motion prevailed.

Mr. Hopkins moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on judicial department.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Crooker moved that when the House adjourn it be until next Monday at 10 o'clock a. m.

And the motion was lost.

Mr. Simonson was granted leave of absence.

The chair presented the following communication, which was read:

STATE OF ILLINOIS,
DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, SECRETARY'S OFFICE, }
SPRINGFIELD, February 6, 1879.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the House resolution introduced by Hon. S. Hopkins, and adopted February 5th, 1879, calling upon the Secretary of the State board of agriculture for "statistics touching the condition and health of cattle of this state and the northwest."

In reply I have to state that special inquiry was made of each regular correspondent of this department, concerning the "diseases of farm animals," and calling for report to be made December 20, 1878.

The correspondents are mainly prominent farmers and feeders, well informed as to the condition and health of cattle, and average five or more to each county in the State, and are so distributed over the several counties as to represent all the different localities.

The reports received do not mention a single case where cattle have been affected by any contagious diseases, and the universal testimony is to the effect that cattle throughout the State are healthy and in thriving condition.

Respectfully,

S. D. FISHER, Secretary.

On motion of Mr. Hopkins, the communication was referred to the committee on agriculture, horticulture and dairying.

On motion of Mr. Secrest, the House, at 12:15 o'clock p. m., adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1879—10 o'clock A. M.

House met pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Noble.

On motion of Mr. Brigham, the reading of yesterday's journal was dispensed with.

Mr. Crooker moved to suspend the rules for the receipt of reports from committees.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Crooker, from the committee on insurance, made the following reports:

The committee on insurance, to whom was referred House Bill No. 48, being a bill for "An act to amend sections 6 and 18 of an act entitled 'An act to organize and regulate the business of life insurance, approved March 26, 1869,'" respectfully beg leave to report the same back to the House, and recommend that it do pass.

And the report of the committee was adopted, and the bill ordered to its second reading.

The committee on insurance, to whom was referred House Bill No. 270, being a bill for "An act to protect the interests of policy holders surrendering their policies in life insurance companies doing business in the state of Illinois," respectfully beg to report the same back to the House, and recommend that it do be printed.

And the report of the committee was adopted, and the bill ordered printed.

The committee on insurance, to whom was referred House Bill No. 234, being a bill for "An act to regulate and govern township and county insurance companies," respectfully beg leave to report the same back to the House with amendment, and recommend that it do pass as amended. Amend by inserting before the words "three hundred dollars," in sec. 1, the words "not exceeding."

And the report of the committee was adopted, and the bill ordered to its second reading.

Mr. Warren, from the committee on federal relations, made the following report:

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Hawes, assistant secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has adopted the following preamble and joint resolutions, in the adoption of which I am instructed to ask the concurrence of the House of Representatives, to-wit:

WHEREAS, The price now charged for the reports of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States is exorbitant; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House of Representatives concurring herein, That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives in Congress be requested, to use their influence to secure such legislation as will vest the copyright of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Secretary of State, of the United States, in trust for the benefit of the people of the United States, and require the publication of the said reports to be let to the lowest responsible bidder.

Resolved, further, That the Secretary of State be, and he is hereby directed to forward to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress a copy of this preamble and these resolutions.

A message from the Governor, by Edward F. Leonard, private secretary:

Mr. SPEAKER: I am directed by the Governor to lay before the House of Representatives the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
SPRINGFIELD, February 17, 1879.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives:

In answer to the House resolution adopted February 6, as follows:

'Be it Resolved, That the Governor be requested to furnish at an early date, for the information of this House, the date of appointment, pay and entire cost of maintaining the Railroad and Warehouse Commission per year, together with such information as may be in his possession, regarding the benefits, (if any), of the commission to the people of Illinois.'

I have the honor to say that the Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners was created by an act of the General Assembly, entitled 'An act to establish a Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners, and to prescribe their powers and duties,' approved April 12, 1871; and the first appointment of commissioners was made July 1, 1871.

The pay and expenses of the board since its creation, to October 1, 1878, is shown in the following table:

	Pay.	Expenses.
July 1, 1871, to November 30, 1873	$12,268 06	$3,479 81
December 1, 1873, to November 30, 1874	20,004 21	13,044 50
December 1, 1874, to September 30, 1876	20,106 96	17,406 95
October 1, 1876, to September 30, 1878	20,143 66	12,229 65
	$72,522 69	$46,159 91

Making a total of salaries and expenses paid on account of attorneys fees, costs, clerk hire, office rent, etc., of $118,632.60 from the creation of the board, in July, 1871, to October 1, 1878. A large share of the $46,159.91 having been paid out by the board to attorneys for the prosecution of suits against railroad companies for violation of the law.

In addition to the statement of the cost of the commission, I am asked to furnish such information as may be in my possession regarding the benefit (if any), of the commission, to the people of Illinois.

To answer this portion of the resolution, in a manner satisfactory to myself, would include a recital of the many attempts that have been made, in this and other countries, to control railroad corporations by legislation. In a paper of this kind, such a reply cannot be made. I must therefore be satisfied with a glance at the events that resulted in the enactment of the railroad and warehouse laws of this State. Since the passage of the laws creating the railroad and warehouse commission, in 1871, Illinois has made very important advances toward the solution of the railroad problem. The questions involved in this problem have not only been before the people of this State, but in other States and countries.

In England, after the railroad had become a fact, it was recognized as a public highway; the right of parliament to fix rates for the transportation of passengers and freights by railroad corporations, was therefore asserted, and schedules of rates were put into their charters. Those familiar with the subject need not be told that the attempt to establish rates in this manner was a failure. Then it was asserted that competition, if encouraged by the government, would prove a remedy for the abuses with which railroads were charged. The suggestion was acted upon. The government encouraged the construction of competing lines. As a result, rates fell. Competition, however, finally began to entail disaster upon the competitors, and compelled them to become allies to escape destruction; the competitors combined; railroads were consolidated; rival lines were united, and competition was thus destroyed.

The danger of great combinations of this kind, not only to the business interests of the country, but also to the State, was at once suggested, and occasioned alarm. This alarm resulted in public opinion that the government should own the railroads. But consolidation, to the surprise of the prophets of evil, did not result in higher rates; on the contrary, lower rates and higher dividends resulted.

Thus, by a logical process of attempt and failure to control railroad corporations, the conclusion was reached that wise policy required permission to such corporations to operate their railroads in their own way upon ordinary business principles. But at the same time a board of commissioners was wisely created, and authorized to hear and determine complaints against railroad corporations and exercise other important powers. This board, in England, was created about five years ago, and the most noticeable feature in its career, says Charles Francis Adams, jr., in his volume, 'Railroads, their Origin and Problems,' is the very trifling call which seems to have been made upon it. So far as can be judged from its annual reports, the cases which come before it are neither numerous nor of great importance. It would, however, be wholly unsafe to conclude from this fact that such a tribunal is unnecessary. On the contrary, it may confidently be asserted that no competent board of railroad commissioners, clothed with the peculiar powers of the English board, will, either there, or any where else, have many cases to dispose of. The mere fact that a tribunal is there—that a machinery does exist for the prompt and final decision of that class of questions, puts an end to them. They no longer arise.

The process through which the public mind of America has passed on the railroad question, is not dissimilar to that through which the public mind of England passed. But here competition was relied on from the first. To all who asked for them, railroad charters were granted. The result has been the construction of railroads in every part of the country; many of them through districts of country without business or even population, as well as between all the business centres, and through populous fertile and well cultivated regions. Free trade in railroad building and the too liberal use of municipal credit in their aid, has induced the building of some lines which are wholly unnecessary, and which would duplicate and embarrass lines previously built, which were fully adequate to the needs of the community.

In Illinois, railroad enterprises have been particularly numerous, and have made the State renowned for having the most miles of railroad track, the chief railroad State. Competition did not result according to public anticipation. The competing corporations worked without sufficient remuneration at the competing points, and to make good the losses resulting, were often guilty of extortion at the non-competing points. They discriminated against persons and places. Citizens protested against these abuses in vain. The railroad corporations when threatened with the power of the government, indulged in the language of defiance, and attempted to control legislation to their own advantage. At last, public indignation became excited against them. They did not heed it—they believed that the courts would be their refuge from the popular fury.

In Illinois, the feeling of the people expressed itself in many ways, and finally found utterance in the constitution of 1870. In this constitution may be found all the phases of opinion on the railroad question, through which the English mind has run. The railroad is declared to be a public highway. The establishment of reasonable maximum rates of charges is directed. Competition between railroads is recognized as necessary to the public welfare, and the General Assembly is required to pass laws to correct abuses, and prevent unjust discrimination and extortion in the rates of freight and passenger tariffs on the different railroads in the State, and enforce such laws by adequate penalties, to the extent, if necessary for that purpose, of the forfeiture of their property and franchises.

The constitution did more than this. To correct abuses of the interests of the farmers, from whose fields, warehousemen, in combination with corporate common carriers, had been drawing riches, it declared all elevators or structures where grain or other property was stored for a compensation—public warehouses, and expressly directed the General Assembly to pass laws for the government of warehouses, for the inspection of grain and for the protection of producers, shippers and receivers of grain and produce.

Promptly after the adoption of the constitution, containing these affirmative provisions, in 1871, the Legislature attempted to give them vitality by enactment of laws to carry them out. One of these created the railroad and warehouse commission and imposed upon it certain important duties; another was an act to regulate public warehouses and warehousing, and the inspection of grain, and to give effect to article 13 of the constitution. By this act other important duties were imposed upon the railroad and warehouse commissioners. A grain inspection department was created and placed under their charge. Another statute divided the railroads of the State into classes, and fixed maximum passenger rates. Another prohibited unjust discrimination and extortion in freight rates, and fixed severe penalties for disobedience of law.

Under the warehouse laws the commissioners commenced a suit against Ira Y. Munn and George T. Scott, warehouse men, to compel them to recognize the right of the General Assembly to regulate their business in the interest of the people. The case was made a test one. It was decided by both the State and Federal supreme courts in favor of the people, and in its decision the supreme court of the United States declared a doctrine of the greatest importance to the people of the whole country, the doctrine that under the power inherent in every sovereignty, a government may regulate the conduct of its citizens toward each other, and, when necessary for the public good, the manner in which each shall use his own property. The value of this decision to the farmers and grain consumers of the country, cannot be wholly estimated in money.

Under the law to establish reasonable passenger rates on railroads, a suit was commenced and taken to the supreme court. The court decided that it was necessary to prove that the rate charged by a railroad, in excess of the maximum rate fixed by law, was unreasonable. The law against unjust discrimination and extortion by railroad corporations was passed upon by the supreme court in the effort of the commission to enforce its provisions, and the supreme court decided that the act could not be enforced until so amended as to make the charging of a greater compensation for a less distance, or for the same distance, merely prima facie evidence of unjust discrimination, instead of conclusive evidence; and in dictum expressed the opinion that "what is a reasonable rate of freight over a railroad is at best a mere matter of opinion, depending on a great variety of complicated facts, which but few persons could intelligently investigate, and which it would be wholly in the power of the company to furnish or withhold."

In 1873, the present law to prevent extortion and unjust discrimination in the rates charged for transportation of passengers and freights on railroads in this State was passed. It was prepared and passed with the decision of the supreme court in the case of the People of the State of Illinois vs. the Chicago and Alton Railroad Co., fresh in the minds of the members of General Assembly, and every suggestion made by the court was observed.

The commission, since its establishment, has brought many important suits against railroad corporations for alleged violation of law, and obtained judgments in the lower courts. In one of these against the Illinois Central R. R. Co. for unjust discrimination in the matter of the delivery of grain upon the track to elevators, a judgment of 1000 dollars and costs was obtained. The judgment was paid by the company, and the unjust discrimination discontinued. At that time the railroads charged six dollars per car load more for delivering grain on the track than to an elevator. Since then the railroads have discontinued this practice. The action of the commissioners in stopping this abuse has resulted in an annual saving to the grain raisers in Illinois of vast sums of money. Other cases won by the people were appealed to the supreme court. The judgment in one of these was reversed, but in the opinion delivered by the court, as two of the dissenting justices assert, the constitutionality of the act is assumed, and an intimation is given that it will be sustained when its merits are discussed, but the law has not yet been passed upon by the court, and the fact must therefore be apparent that the commissioners cannot act under the existing condition of things with the confidence they would possess if the law had been decided by the highest tribunal in the State to be constitutional.

Notwithstanding the difficulties experienced by the Commissioners, there has been rapid progress made in Illinois toward a settlement of the railroad question, through their agency. In 1871 the Railroad and Warehouse Commission was established. Its creation was resisted by both railroad corporations and public warehousemen, and after its organization they treated it with little consideration. They refused to recognize its authority; but after the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, declaring the doctrine that Government may regulate the conduct of its citizens to each other, and when necessary for the public good, the manner in which each shall use his own property, the railroad corporations and public warehousemen began to grow less determined in their opposition to the attempts to control them, until now there is very little opposition. They now give prompt attention to requests of the Commission for the correction of abuses called to its notice by their patrons, and thus the Commissioners not only settle questions arising between railroad corporations and their patrons, but it may as truthfully be said of this, as of the English or Massachusetts Commission, that the very fact of its existence has put an end to many of the abuses formerly practiced by such corporations, which were angrily complained of by the people. The Commission also, in some cases, has shown to complainants that the hardships complained of were not the fault of the railroad companies, but resulted from causes affecting the markets outside of railroad control and interference.

It is a curious fact, that the conclusion reached by the English statesmen in 1874, was reached in Illinois in 1878: the conclusion that railroad companies ought to have the right to control their own affairs, fix their own rates of transportation, be free from meddlesome legislation, and, as it has been expressed, work out their own destiny in their own way.—just so long as they show a reasonable regard for the requirements of the community. An analysis of the railroad law will prove this. It recognizes the right of a railroad company to establish its own rates for the transportation of passengers and freights over its railroad—provided that in doing so, it neither extorts from, or unjustly discriminates against any of its patrons; and that the question of unjust discrimination may be determined, it declares what shall be unjust discrimination, prima facie, and that complaints of extortion may be determined, the law provides a way to make the corporation complained about, produce the facts on which is based the opinion of what is a reasonable rate on its road. This is done by requiring the railroad and warehouse commissioners to prepare schedules of reasonable maximum rates for the transportation of freights and passengers on each of the railroads of the State, and in any suit against a railroad corporation the schedules prepared for that corporation are made prima facie evidence that the rates fixed by the commission are reasonable maximum rates.

By this process, a corporation that has made a rate that is complained about as extortionate, is compelled to prove that the rate is reasonable. In this way, the law says to the railroad company, "You may charge what you please, if you can show, when your charges are questioned, that they are reasonable." In other words, the General Assembly has attempted to take the burden of proof from the shoulders of the complainants, in a suit against a railroad company for extortion, and put it on the shoulders of the defendant. And it has done this because the Supreme Court has said that what is a reasonable rate of freight over a railroad is at best but a mere matter of opinion, depending on a great variety of complicated facts, possessed only by the railroad company, and which it may furnish or withhold. The Legislature has attempted to make the possessors of the facts furnish them for the use of courts and juries. It is true, that the Supreme Court has said that the schedules of rates are something more than evidence—that they are facts upon which actions against roads must be based; but the Legislature did not intend to absolutely fix maximum rates; the Legislature intended to establish a standard of what is fair and reasonable in the charges made in the transaction of railroad business; that it was intended to allow the roads to charge all they ought to, and devise a method by which a determination could be reached, when anyone should complain that they were charging more than in fairness they ought to charge. Whether the method of determining the reasonableness and fairness of railroad passenger fares and freight rates, provided by the statute of 1873, will be approved by the Supreme Court, cannot now be stated; but if it should be, there will be removed out of the way one of the greatest difficulties of the railroad problem, and the railroad and warehouse commission will become of much more use to the public than it is now.

The schedules will require revision from time to time, and this work can only be done by men who can give to it their whole time, and who will become students of the great subject of transportation. Pending the action of the Supreme Court, it has not been deemed advisable that the Commissioners should revise the schedules, and put the State thereby to what might be an unnecessary expense, nor that they should multiply suits under the law of 1873 against railroad companies for similar offenses to those set up in the case now pending.

Ever since its organization the board has been putting into operation new laws, founded upon old principles, applied to new facts, and it has been compelled to walk with slow steps. It has been required in the assertion of its authority, to go from one court to another, and await the approval of the Supreme Court of the legislation, directed by the constitution of 1870, in relation to railroads and warehouses.

It has won a victory in the warehouse controversy, and secured the judicial endorsement of doctrines, which in this age of concentration and monopoly, are absolutely necessary to the public welfare. The Supreme Court will doubtless soon render a decision in the case now before it, which will pass upon the constitutionality of the law of 1873, and if the law shall be sustained the Commissioners will be able to give to that act, to prevent extortion and unjust discrimination by railroad companies, much more vigorous enforcement.

Leaving out of view the benefit which has resulted to the people by the mere fact of the existence of the board, which has prevented many abuses that would have been committed save for its presence in this State; it has been at work and useful. It has perfected the organization of the grain inspection department at Chicago, under which the grain trade in that city has wonderfully increased in importance during the last year.

It has gathered statistics in reference to transportation that are of very great benefit to the public. It has adopted the policy of railroad examination with a view to security of life, and in my judgment the authority of the commission ought to be enlarged so as enable it to compel railroad companies to improve their tracks and bridges when, in the judgment of the commission, such portions of railroads become unsafe.

The railroad commissioners act as arbitrators between the railroad companies and their patrons, and in the commissioners' report they say they have succeeded in settling most of the complaints made to them in a manner satisfactory to all the parties to the controversies. In my judgment, if the commission were dispensed with by the legislature, difficulties would soon arise, agitation would commence again, controversies would run riot, new legislation would follow, another board of some kind would soon be created, and the track we have just passed over would be again traveled over by the people's representatives.

The board should be sustained in the interest of all the people. Instead of being destroyed it should be strengthened; it should not only have the authority with which it is now vested, but more—it should be made a legal arbitrator in all matters of controversy between railroad companies or warehouses and their patrons; and it should be required to make examination of roads, and be invested with authority to compel reparation of unsafe or defective bridges, culverts, track and rolling stock.

The tax annually levied for state school purposes is apportioned to the several counties by the Auditor of Public Accounts on the first Monday in January, of each year, as provided by law. The Auditor issues an order to the county superintendent of schools, of each county, upon the collector thereof, for the amount apportioned such county. These "school orders", the county collectors are required to pay out of the first taxes collected by them, and the State Treasurer is required to receive said orders in payment of amounts due to the State from the several county collectors. Thus it will be seen that the one million dollars tax annually levied for state school purposes, in fact never reaches the State Treasury, except in the manner indicated.

On the first days of May, June and July, 1878, the amount of "school orders" received by the State Treasurer, exceeded the amount of school tax collected on those dates, as shown by the figures in red ink (bold faced type) in the column headed "school fund."

Mr. Halliday moved to suspend the rules for consideration of this report; which motion prevailed.

Mr. Halliday moved that 500 copies of the report be printed; which motion prevailed.

The Speaker presented a communication from the Secretary of State, concerning the number of state house employes, etc.

Mr. Trusdell moved to suspend the rules for consideration of this report; which motion was lost.

Under the rules the report was referred to the committee on contingent expenses.

The Speaker presented the following communication:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, FROM INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND DUMB, {
Superintendent's Office, Jacksonville, February 12, 1879. }

To Hon. W. A. James, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt by the mail of this date, the following preamble and resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on the 7th inst :

WHEREAS, The report of the superintendent of the asylum for the deaf and dumb, does not give an itemized statement showing the amount paid in behalf of said institution for salaries and wages to persons employed for the years 1877 and 1878; and,

WHEREAS, The salaries and wages paid for the two years named amount to the sum of $74,978.36, more than 45 per cent. of the entire expenses, repairs and improvements connected with said institution; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the superintendent of the institution or asylum for the deaf and dumb, furnish this House with the following information at his earliest convenience, to-wit: A list of all persons to whom any money has been paid during 1877 and 1878 for employment or services, giving the amount and rate so paid each person per month or per annum, with the nature of his or her employment, whether any person so employed were clothed or fed by said institution; whether any person so employed had leave of absence from his duties during the time named, and if so, for what period or periods of time; and whether any payment was made for the time or times so absent, giving the amount so paid and to whom.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Board of Public Charities, and to the superintendent of the institution of the deaf and dumb, by the Clerk of this House, immediately upon its adoption.

In compliance with the foregoing resolution, I herewith submit a statement of the names of ninety (90) persons who have been in the employment of this institution during the two years ending September 30, 1877, and September 30, 1878, together with the rate of their compensation and the amount paid to each within each of the years named, and showing the nature of the employment of each.

In compliance with the inquiry of the resolution, I have the honor to state that no employe has been clothed by said institution, but that those persons who have been engaged in the service enumerated under the head of administration, control, clerical, heating and machinery, guard, care of stock and labor, and domestic service, have all been boarded at the institution, and consequently have been fed by said institution, with the following exceptions: that for 11 months of the last year the watchman has provided his own board. Two lady teachers have also boarded in the institution.

In compliance with the same I have the honor to state that at the close of the vacation in 1878, one of the lady supervisors had granted her a leave of absence for twenty-five (25) days in consequence of an enfeebled condition of health, having suffered a severe spell of sickness during the preceding summer, being thereby disqualified for the discharge of her duties.

And further, that at the same time, the matron of the institution was granted a leave of absence for seven (7) days, to attend the bedside of a sister whose sickness was at the time thought to be mortal.

And further, that one of the lady teachers, being unable to resume her duties at the opening of the term in the fall of 1878, having during the previous summer suffered a protracted and severe spell of sickness, was granted a leave of absence from the 1st of October, till the 27th of November of the same year—a period of fifty-eight days.

And further, that another of the lady teachers, being taken sick on or about the 25th of April, 1877, was granted a leave of absence till the day of her death, May 9, 1877—a period of fourteen days.

And further, that in consequence of sickness of herself, brought on by great responsibility and labor, the matron was granted a leave of absence from October 25, 1877, to December 12, of the same year—a period of forty-seven days.

And I have the honor to further reply, that in consequence of ill health, the superintendent was granted a leave of absence from the 17th day of May last until the commencement of the annual vacation, June 12th—a period of twenty-six (26) days. And that the senior teacher in the art department was granted a leave of absence for the same period.

I have the further honor of replying that in the cases of leave of absence above recited, no charge was made against any of the parties for absence.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP G. GILLET, Superintendent.

Mr. McKinlay, by consent, presented a petition from Edgar county, relating to the road law, which was referred to the committee on counties and township organization.

Mr. Jones, of Christian, moved to recommit the bill to the committee on judiciary, which motion prevailed.

Mr. Peters offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, A law has passed Congress granting back pay to pensioners, which will create a large demand on the National treasury; and,

WHEREAS, The payment of the interest on the National debt is already a heavy burden on the people of the Nation, it would be impolitic to increase the same by issuing interest-bearing bonds, to meet this new demand; and,

WHEREAS, A currency issued directly from the National treasury in payment of the debts of the Government, and like coin, made a full legal tender for all purposes, is the most economical, convenient and acceptable circulating medium; and

WHEREAS, The soldiers of the Nation, in the dark days of the rebellion, were paid for their services and sacrifices in legal tender greenbacks and treasury notes, and were received by them without question; therefore,

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That our Senators be instructed, and our Representatives in Congress be requested, to use their influence to secure the passage of a law authorizing an additional issue of legal tenders, equal in amount to the increased demand for the payment of back pensions.

Pending the consideration of the resolution of Mr. Peters, Mr. Mitchell, by consent, moved that reconsideration of the vote by which the House refused to print House Bill No. 99, be postponed until to-morrow, which motion prevailed.

Pending consideration of the resolution of Mr. Peters, the House,

A MINORITY REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE ON MILITIA, ON HOUSE BILL APPROPRIATING $83,500 TO PAY THE NATIONAL GUARD.

MR. SPEAKER: The majority of the committee on militia having decided to recommend the passage of a bill appropriating eighty-three thousand five hundred dollars to pay the state militia for services rendered; and, since a thorough investigation of the pay-rolls and vouchers in the Adjutant General's possession relative to this claim plainly proves that a much smaller amount would amply suffice to pay all legitimate expenses incurred by said militia, inasmuch as there are many companies down for fifteen days' pay that did not render six days' service; and inasmuch as there are many extravagant and irregular claims embodied in said claim that ought of right to be cut down, or lopped off entirely; therefore, we, being a minority of said committee, respectfully and firmly protest against the passage of said bill.

T. D. HINCKLEY.

WHEREAS, By the action of the water at the point where the Missouri river empties its waters into the Mississippi river, opposite to the county of Madison in the state of Illinois, is such that large tracts of land situated in said county of Madison has already been washed away, and the same is now being washed away; and

WHEREAS, At the rate the lands in said county are now being carried away by the water, there is great danger that the water will break across the present land barrier and flow into Long Lake, thereby causing the Mississippi river, at that point, to spread over large tracts of country, both in the county of Madison and St. Clair in said state, inflicting great injury to a large district of country, and at the same time greatly endangering navigation on the Mississippi river, and compelling the construction of numerous bridges across the channel thus formed; and

WHEREAS, By the washing away of the soil, the Mississippi river has been widened from a width of about one-half mile to about the width of a mile and a half in the last few years, thereby causing the formation of several sand bars in the immediate vicinity, and thus rendering navigation difficult and dangerous; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That our Representatives in Congress be requested, and our Senators be instructed to use their influence and endeavors to have the Congress of the United States, in its expenditure of money for the improvement of the Mississippi river, so to expend the same as to protect the navigation of said river at the points endangered, and at the same time prevent the river from breaking into Long Lake and destroying the country as mentioned.

WHEREAS, By the action of the water at the point where the Missouri river empties its waters into the Mississippi river, opposite to the county of Madison in the state of Illinois, is such that large tracts of land situated in said county of Madison has already been washed away, and the same is now being washed away; and

WHEREAS, At the rate the lands in said county are now being carried away by the water, there is great danger that the water will break across the present land barrier and flow into Long Lake, thereby causing the Mississippi river, at that point, to spread over large tracts of country, both in the county of Madison and St. Clair in said state, inflicting great injury to a large district of country, and at the same time greatly endangering navigation on the Mississippi river, and compelling the construction of numerous bridges across the channel thus formed; and

WHEREAS, By the washing away of the soil, the Mississippi river has been widened from a width of about one-half mile to about the width of a mile and a half in the last few years, thereby causing the formation of several sand bars in the immediate vicinity, and thus rendering navigation difficult and dangerous; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That our Representatives in Congress be requested, and our Senators be instructed to use their influence and endeavors to have the Congress of the United States, in its expenditure of money for the improvement of the Mississippi river, so to expend the same as to protect the navigation of said river at the points endangered, and at the same time prevent the river from breaking into Long Lake and destroying the country as mentioned.

This bill, expressing an emergency, in the body of the act, rendering it necessary that it should go into effect immediately, and having received the votes of two-thirds of the members elected, was declared passed.

Ordered that the title be as aforesaid, and that the clerk inform the Senate thereof, and ask their concurrence therein.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Terwilliger, assistant secretary:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that the Senate has concurred with them in the adoption of the following preamble and joint resolution, to-wit:

WHEREAS, By the action of the water, at the point where the Missouri river empties its waters into the Mississippi river, opposite to the county of Madison, in the State of Illinois, is such that large tracts of land, situated in said county of Madison, have already been washed away, and the same are now being washed away; and

WHEREAS, At the rate the lands in said county are now being carried away, by the water, there is great danger that the water will break across the present land barrier, and flow into Long Lake, thereby causing the Mississippi river at that point, to spread over large tracts of country, both in the counties of Madison and St. Clair, in said state, and inflicting great injury to a large district of country, and at the same time greatly endangering navigation on the Mississippi river, and compelling the construction of numerous bridges across the channel thus formed; and

WHEREAS, By the washing away of the soil, the Mississippi river has been widened, from a width of about one half mile, to about the width of a mile and a half, in the last few years, thereby causing the formation of several sand bars, in the immediate vicinity, and thus rendering navigation difficult and dangerous; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That our Representatives in Congress, be requested, and our Senators be instructed to use their influence and endeavors to have the Congress of the United States, in its expenditure of money for the improvement of the Mississippi river, so to expend the same, as to protect the navigation of said river, at the points endangered, and at the same time prevent the river from breaking into Long Lake, and destroying the country as mentioned.

Messrs. Wright, of Boone, and Otman, were excused on account of sickness.

House Bill No. 255, for "An act to designate a custodian for the transcripts, documents and records pertaining to the United States Land Office, formerly located at Springfield, Illinois," (having been printed), was read at large a third time, and,

Mr. Meilbeck offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The city of Chicago is the owner of large and valuable interests in real estate which belongs to the school fund, and which it rents out for all sorts of purposes and derives large rents therefrom; and

WHEREAS, The great fire of 1871 destroyed all of the public libraries of said city; and whereas the people from all parts of the civilized world did immediately take steps to restore and replace the libraries destroyed, and did contribute large quantities of valuable books for that purpose; and

WHEREAS, The city authorities were instrumental in effecting an exchange of a piece of ground belonging to the city, with the United States Government, for the post office site and building, which exchange was made upon the express understanding that the said post office building was to be immediately fitted up and used for the purposes of a public library; and

WHEREAS, When said exchange had been effected, the board of education of the city of Chicago utterly repudiated the arrangement, and took possession of said building and rented it to parties to be run as a theater; and said building is now, and has been for several years, used as a theater; and the public library has been left without rooms or accommodations fit and suitable, although said city has been owing to it large tracts of ground, especially the old post office site; and

WHEREAS, Said public library is one of the most useful institutions ever established in said city, and is patronized by thousands of people, both young and old; now, therefore, Resolved, That the committee on schools be directed to make provision by law, compelling all boards of education, and all cities situated the way the city of Chicago is, to make suitable provision for its public library, and set apart a sufficient portion of ground for a library building and library purposes.

On motion of Mr. Sherman, the resolution was referred to the committee on education.

Mr. Zimmerman introduced House Bill No. 739, for "An act to amend an act to amend sections 34, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44 and 46, and to repeal section 36 of an act entitled 'An act in regard to gateways, roads and bridges in counties not under township organization, approved and in force April 18, 1873, approved April 15, 1875.'"

Mr. Burt made the following report of the committee on penitentiaries:

To the Hon. W. A. James, Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR: Your standing committee on penitentiaries, after having visited the penal institutions in the state, in accordance with their official duties, beg leave to report as follows:

We visited the Reform School at Pontiac, on Tuesday, February 6th. The farm and the building, as well as the books and papers of the office, were all examined, and we found the institution to be well conducted and ably managed. The discipline of the school is excellent, and the health of the inmates good. The building and beds are clean and well kept, and the food furnished ample and wholesome.

The committee recommend that the present hospital room be divided into wards by close partitions, that the sick may be kept separately. We found the ventilation of the hospital room to be very bad, and the air was poisoned and rendered noxious by the effluvia arising from the lungs of a boy suffering from gangrene. Fifty dollars we deem ample to make the necessary change, and recommend that this amount be appropriated for that purpose.

About 185 acres of land in the farm, now almost useless, could be made valuable by proper drainage. To do this would require about one thousand dollars, and we recommend that this amount be appropriated for that purpose.

Further, your committee recommend that the boys be employed as much as possible at farm labor, believing out-door work, and plenty of fresh air, is more conducive to good health and reform, than shop labor.

Your committee also respectfully call the attention of the Legislature to the following changes, which, we think, should be made in the law governing this institution:

1st. So change the law that all sentences shall be until the inmate is 21 years of age, unless sooner discharged by the trustees for good behavior, or pardoned, as now provided by law.

2d. Give the trustees the power to issue tickets of leave, under which, for bad behavior, the boy may be returned to the institution for further discipline. The object being to make the institution a purely reformatory one, and take from it the odium of a penal institution.

We also recommend that the last dividend of the Duff-Gowan bankrupt fund, amounting to between $500 and $800, be appropriated for the purpose of improving the grounds about the building. This fund of $50,000 was donated by the citizens of the county, and really never belonged to the State. It was deposited in Duff & Gowan's bank, which failed, and the amount spoken of is the last dividend declared.

Your committee visited the Joliet Penitentiary, on the 7th of February, and went through all the workshops and buildings, and made as thorough an examination as was possible, in the short time spent there.

We found the business to be well managed, and the discipline perfect. The prison and cell houses, are clean and well kept, and this fact attests the remarkable good health of the convicts. Out of nearly 1,600, only five were in the hospital, and the average number of sick is very small.

A number of contractors appeared before the committee, and complained that, since the removal of the 200 convicts to Chester, they had not been able to obtain sufficient men to fill their contracts, and that they were suffering loss from this fact. But we find that the state is not bound by the contracts, to furnish the number of men contracted for, if there be not a sufficient number on hand.

We find that $50,000 is necessary to pay the debts of the penitentiary, and recommend that this amount be appropriated for that purpose.

An inspection of the roofs of the warden's house and cell houses, revealed the fact that they are in a very bad condition; they leak, and after a heavy rain storm there is frequently found great quantities of water on the floors of the cell houses.

This impairs the walls and makes the cells damp and unhealthy. We recommend that $15,000 be appropriated to repair, or build new roofs.

The commissioners ask for $50,000, as a working capital, to be drawn upon in case of emergency to meet monthly bills, and thus save large amounts of interest. We think the institution should be provided with a reasonable amount of capital for this purpose, and recommend that $25,000 be appropriated.

The commissioners also ask that $15,000 be appropriated for a new chapel and hospital building, but we do not deem this necessary at present, and cannot recommend it.

The room used for a hospital, is in the same condition as that at Pontiac, and we deem it absolutely necessary that the hospital be divided into wards, for the better accommodation of the patients; as it is now they are all put into one large room, and when a patient dies, the others, of necessity, must witness his death, and this always has a depressing and injurious effect. We recommend that $250 be appropriated to make the necessary change in the room, and that the prison authorities be instructed to make such changes as soon as possible.

A heating and ventilating apparatus has been put into the cell houses, an improvement absolutely necessary, and we recommend that $10,000 be appropriated to pay for the same. The attention of the Legislature has already been called to a very important change in the law in reference to the life sentences. The tables of this prison as well as to her prisons, show that a man sentenced for life rarely lives more than ten years. After that time the terrible strain upon his mind, with no hope of ever again being permitted to see his friends in this world, causes him to give up in despair and die, or he becomes a maniac, and is sent to an asylum to spend the remaining years of his life. If the law is so amended that a convict shall not be sentenced for a longer term than thirty-three years—the average life of man—he may under the present good time law, shorten his time one year and three months in the first five years and one-half after that. So that if a man is sentenced for thirty-three years, he can, by obeying all the rules of the prison, end his sentence in a little less than twenty years; and we are of opinion if a man can not be reformed in that time and safely returned to society, he ought to have been hung in the first place; and we respectfully urge upon the present Legislature the necessity of so amending the law in this particular that a convict may have the power by his own good acts to shorten his time, and regain his liberty and position in the world at some time in the future. If he fails to do this, upon his own head rests the entire responsibility. But in this connection we suggest that the law be so amended that any attempt to escape, forfeits all good time to the convict, and compels him to serve his full time. By this means the danger of revolt would be greatly lessened, and the discipline of the prison be more easily maintained.

THE CHESTER PENITENTIARY.

Your committee visited this institution on the 12th of February. On account of the severe criticism of the location, and the charge of mismanagement of the work of construction, made by the newspapers, we made a thorough and searching examination of everything connected with the institution. We examined the books, bonds and contracts, and caused the commissioners, warden and clerk, to appear and answer all questions put to them. We also thoroughly inspected the location, buildings and general management, and submit the following as the result of our investigation:

We found the location available and satisfactory in every particular. The prison is situated upon high and rolling ground, with a splendid river frontage of one-third of a mile. The drainage, a very important matter in the location of an institution of this kind, is excellent, and the water privilege never-failing. The prison is easily accessible, both by railroad and river; it is convenient to St. Louis markets, and supplies can be laid down at very low rates by boat. We visited the stone quarries opened on the prison grounds, and those also opened on the Bunn estate. The latter were opened by the contractors themselves for their own benefit, and the officers of the prison have no interest in them whatever.

The commissioners have recently entered into a contract with the owners of these quarries, by which the latter agree to furnish all the stone necessary for the completion of the prison to the state free of cost. The quarries opened on the prison grounds show that the supply of stone is almost unlimited. The sandstone and limestone are of the quality adapted to any kind of building, and is easily quarried and dressed. The supply of stone for rip-rap and McAdam pavement, and for streets, and for government dykes and jetties, is unlimited, and the unskilled labor of the prison can be employed very profitably in this way. Contracts can be entered into at any time to supply rip-rap and small stone for government work, and as this class of labor comes less into competition with free skilled labor, we think it should be encouraged. There is no doubt that this will form a very important feature in the future history of the penitentiary, and can be made a constant source of large revenue to the state.

The land upon which the prison is located, consists of 122½ acres, and was bought for $35 per acre, or a total cost of $3,680.

The buildings were examined thoroughly, and seem to have been well constructed, and we think the money appropriated has been judiciously expended. The cell house, of which one section of 200 rooms is now complete, is particularly worthy of mention. The outside walls are strong and massive, the corridors wide and light, and the cells dry and large. The new system of ventilation used is perfect, keeping the air of the cells pure and healthy at all times.

When the convicts were removed from Joliet to Chester, no provision was made by law for their transportation, and although it was made the duty of the commissioners to receive and keep 200 convicts, not a dollar was appropriated for this purpose, and as the convicts were employed chiefly on the work of construction, no revenue from this labor could be made available for their maintenance. And your committee recommend that a sufficient amount of money be appropriated to pay the debts of the penitentiary so incurred. We recommend that the prison be completed as soon as practicable according to the plans and specifications now in the architect's office, believing that the state will save money by doing so, rather than delay and prolong the work for years. The amount asked to complete the building and carry on the penitentiary for the next two years, is $400,000. We respectfully refer this matter to the committee on appropriations, recommending, however, that a sufficient amount be appropriated to complete the prison and pay all actual expenses during the next two years.

It is urged by the officers of both penitentiaries, and we believe it to be necessary, that a separate establishment be erected in connection with one of the penitentiaries for the treatment of prisoners who become insane, and the confinement for observation of prisoners who are suspected of feigning insanity, in hopes of being sent to an asylum from which they think they can easily escape. The temptation to feign insanity would be greatly reduced, if not entirely removed, did prisoners know that they would only be sent to another department of the same institution, while for those who are really insane such a department is greatly needed. It is a shame to place criminals who have generally destroyed their reason by self-abuse, with their vicious inclinations all in full play, in asylums, where they must and do, poison the minds, and destroy the morals of honest people, brought there by misfortune, with whom they come in contact. While criminals, when insane, should receive all the care and kind treatment that are given to any insane people, they should by all means, be kept by themselves. Such a building can be more easily erected in connection with the new prison at Chester, and we recommend that a suitable building for this purpose be built inside the prison walls at Chester, and that a sum sufficient to complete and furnish such a building be appropriated.

Respectfully submitted,

CHAS. S. BURT,
FRANCIS BOWEN,
JOHN R. MOFIE,
JOHN B. TAYLOR,
ANDREW J. REAVELL,
CHAS. EHRHARDT,

CARTER TRACY.

Mr. Burt moved that 300 copies of the special report of the committee on penitentiary be printed, which motion prevailed.

On motion of Mr. McKinlay, 2,000 copies of House Bill No. 682 were ordered printed.

Mr. Lovell offered the following resolution, which was referred to the committee on public charities:

WHEREAS, The large number of unemployed persons, commonly called "tramps," who are wandering about the state, really or ostensibly in search of work, appear to be constantly increasing; and

WHEREAS, It is the duty of the public to succor cases of genuine distress, while sternly repressing and punishing willful or criminal vagrancy; and

WHEREAS, In the present prostrate condition of business and labor, it is absolutely essential that every person should, so far as possible, earn his own support; therefore,

Resolved, That the committee on public charities be requested to examine, without unnecessary delay, into the general subject of tramps and vagrancy, and into the propriety of establishing local work and relief houses, whereby honest and industrious persons, unfortunately out of employment, may be enabled to earn temporary shelter and food, without disgrace; but dishonest and professional tramps may be detected and punished, and the peaceful homes of our citizens relieved from their constant, persistent, and often dangerous visits. And that said committee report their conclusions by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Lovell presented a petition, relating to the insurance law, which was referred to the committee on insurance.

Mr. Foy presented a petition, relating to the Muscatine ferry company, which was referred to the committee on judiciary.

Mr. Hall, of Tazewell, presented a petition, relating to protection of game, which was referred to the committee on fish and game.

Mr. Wright, of DuPage, presented a petition, relating to the road law, which was referred to the committee on roads, highways and bridges.

Mr. Ficklin presented a petition, relating to the Illinois and Michigan canal, which was referred to the committee on canal and river improvement.

Mr. Black presented a petition, relating to sale of liquor, which was referred to the committee on license for sale of liquors.

Mr. Zink moved that House Bill No. 560, being a special order for Wednesday, March 19th, be taken from that order and placed second on the order of second reading, which motion prevailed.

On motion of Mr. Robison, of Fulton, House Bill No. 314, was placed third on order of third reading.

Mr. Gray, from the committee on public buildings and grounds, made the following reports:

The committee on public buildings and grounds, to whom was referred House Bill No. 660, being a bill for "An act to make an appropriation to pay for the land condemned for the use of the state, adjoining the new capitol grounds," respectfully beg leave to report the same back, and recommend that it do pass.

And the report of the committee was adopted, and the bill ordered to its first reading.

The committee on public buildings and grounds, to whom was referred House Bill No. 695, being a bill for "An act to make an appropriation to pay for the land condemned for the use of the state, adjoining the new capitol grounds," respectfully beg leave to report the same back, and recommend that it be laid on the table, being a copy of House Bill No. 660, now before the house.

And the report of the committee was adopted.

Mr. Keniston, from the committee on mines and mining, made the following reports:

And the report of the committee was adopted.

Mr. Allen, of Warren, from the joint committee to investigate the printing of bills, etc., made the following report:

To the Honorable Senate, and House of Representatives, in General Assembly:

Your joint committee, to whom was referred the matter of printing bills for the General Assembly, and the delay, in which complaint has been made, beg leave to respectfully report that they have considered the same; heard explanations from the Secretary of State, printer expert, printer and binder, and find it difficult to decide where the blame (if any) should lie.

We find that the printing of this class of work was let by contract (under the law) at a very low rate; that the contractor has been crowded with a great number of bills, many of them containing a great number of pages; that his material at hand is inadequate to do the work as rapidly as the present rush of bills upon him demands, and that we see no way out of the difficulty, under the present contract.

We further find, that members of the General Assembly, by personal application, urge that their bills be printed first, and that in some cases, the printer has complied with requests out of courtesy; that errors are made sometimes, by both houses, in the number of copies ordered printed, the number often being not large enough to furnish the assembly with as many copies as it wants, thereby making it a necessity to reprint some long bills.

We believe Mr. Gehring has been doing the best he can, under the circumstances, but the circumstances are not such as, in our opinion, we could wish. We see no better way, if the delay continues, to get the printing done more promptly, than to adopt a joint resolution, allowing the printer more compensation, to be used for night work; and we further believe from statements made, that no undue influence has been used to delay any bills from their proper place on the calendar.

We therefore beg leave to offer the accompanying resolution for the consideration of the Senate and House of Representatives.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JNO. R. MARSHALL,
Chairman for the Senate.
E. W. ALLEN,
Chairman for the House.
W. Y. CROSTHWAIT.
GEO. L. ZINK.

The joint committee, to whom was referred the resolution of the Senate, in regard to the printing of bills, etc., report the following preamble and resolution as a part of their report:

WHEREAS, The contract for printing of the first class, made with the state by Gehring & Boos, does not provide for work during the night time; and,

WHEREAS, The amount of work required of said printer, is so unusually large and unexpected, that it cannot be done during the day by said printer; and,

WHEREAS, The expense of night work is much greater than during the day, and that it is necessary that the great amount of work, now accumulated upon their hands, be done at once; therefore,

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That when the Commissioners of State Contracts settle with the said Gehring & Boos, they pay them a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, for extra work, not provided for by said contract, in consideration that said work be done and completed by Monday evening next.

E. W. ALLEN,
Chairman for the House.

Resolved, That the said sub-committee be, and they are hereby authorized to send for persons and papers, to administer oaths, and do such other things as they may deem necessary for the purpose of the inquiry herein provided.

Mr. Snigg, from the committee on license for sale of intoxicating liquors, made the following report of the minority of that committee:

We, the undersigned, members of the liquor license committee, beg leave to make the following report, respectfully dissenting from the majority of said committee in reporting and recommending the passage of a substitute for House Bills 355 and 287. In our judgment, the present law has so far operated well, both for the protection of those who may be injured by the sale of intoxicating liquors, and in the punishment of those who violate its provisions.

One of the objections we urge to the bill reported by the majority of the committee, is that it changes and increases the punishment which shall be imposed for its violation. A fair trial of this law, as first enacted, in 1874, we think clearly showed that the severity of the punishment rendered the law, to a considerable degree, inoperative, and prevented its enforcement. We do not believe that the bill recommended by the majority of the committee is in the interest of temperance, nor do we believe that it will advance the purpose for which the law was enacted. We do not believe that it would be for the good of society, or the interests of the people of the state that the law should be at this time changed.

For these reasons, we recommend that the majority report be laid on the table, and the minority report be adopted.

J. C. SNIGG,
JOS. VEILE,
CHRISTIAN MBIER,
THOS. F. O'MALLEY,
PHILIP C. C. PROVAET.

Mr. Barry, from the special investigation committee, made the following report:

To the Honorable, the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

Your committee to whom was referred the following resolution:

WHEREAS, It has been charged in the public prints, that there is an organized lobby in the capitol, seeking to control the House of Representatives by bribery and corruption; and

WHEREAS, It has been further charged that one member of the Legislature has already pocketed $1,500, as the price for abandoning a certain scheme he was pressing that is antagonistic to the prosperity of certain organizations; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives, that a committee of five (5), with a clerk, be appointed by the Speaker of the House, to inquire into the truth or falsity of such charges, and that the committee be, and is hereby authorized and empowered to send for persons and papers, and report to this House within one week.

Beg leave to respectfully report that on the 28th day of March, 1879, they summoned before them Mr. Frank E. Nevins, who testified that he was the regularly employed Springfield correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, and further, as follows:

"I only know from hearsay who wrote the editorial contained in Tribune, March 25th, charging members of this General Assembly with corruption. Mr. A. M. Thompson, who is one of the regular editorial writers, says he wrote it, and Mr. Thompson informs me that he got his information principally from my correspondence, upon which to base the editorial.

The foundation of the correspondence was this: I was informed in reference to that specific charge by a member of the House. A certain member told me that he knew that a certain other member of the House had received fifteen hundred dollars for desisting from pushing a certain measure pending before the legislature, and of which he was the author."

Question—What member gave you this information?

Answer—Well, now, I want to say to the committee respectfully, that it has been my business to establish intimate relations with members of the General Assembly, for the purpose of obtaining news. That is one cardinal principle of my business, and by establishing these intimate relations I was enabled to obtain information, and I don't feel inclined now to divulge the source of my information. I promised not to divulge his name or drag him into it.

Question—What member gave you the information?

Answer—For the present, I respectfully decline to answer.

Thereupon a member of this committee read to said witness the law of this state, touching refusal to answer questions by committee of either house, and notified said witness to appear before this committee, on April 2d, 1879, for further examination; and afterward, on said 2d of April, said committee met, and said Frank E. Nevins again appeared before this committee, and testified as follows:

Question—Have you changed your mind in reference to answering the last question addressed to you upon your examination before this committee?

Answer—I will state, that after mature deliberation, I have not seen fit to change my mind.

Question—Do you still decline?

Answer—I do.

Now, therefore, your committee desires that the said Frank E. Nevins shall be arraigned before the bar of this House, to the end that the said Nevins may be compelled to testify, and answer said question or questions, and such other questions as will aid in the rapid advancement of this investigation, concerning which he may and does possess the proper knowledge, and without which it will be very difficult, if not impossible, for this committee to arrive at such facts as will make this investigation of any practical effect.

And that this House may take such further action in the premises as it may, in its wisdom, deem advisable and expedient.

P. T. BARRY, Chairman Committee.

Mr. Mason offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, P. T. Barry, chairman of the committee appointed by virtue of a resolution adopted by this House, March 23, 1879, has reported to the House, that Frank E. Nevins, a witness before said committee, has refused to answer certain questions propounded to him by said committee, touching the matter of investigation now pending before such committee; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Speaker be, and he is hereby directed to cause to be summoned to appear before the House on the 4th day of April, 1879, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., the said Frank E. Nevins, to testify and answer such questions as may be put to him, touching such investigation, and if the said Frank E. Nevins refuse to answer such questions as the House may direct to be propounded, that he then be dealt with as for contempt.

Mr. Jones, of Christian, offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, Frank E. Nevins, a witness now before the bar of this House, made the following answer to a question before a select committee of this House:

"I was informed by a member of the House, a certain member told me, that he knew that a certain other member of the House had received $1,500 for desisting from pushing a certain measure pending before the Legislature, and of which he was the author;" and

WHEREAS, Said committee put to said witness the following question: "What member gave you this information?" which question said witness refused to answer; therefore, be it

Resolved, That said witness be required to make such answer before said committee, and that the same be taken down in writing by the committee. And if said Frank E. Nevins refuses to make such answer before said committee, that he then be dealt with as for contempt. And further, that the Speaker is hereby directed to put to the witness the following question: "Frank E. Nevins, will you go before the committee referred to in this resolution, and answer the question recited in this resolution, put to you by said committee?" And further, that said witness be required to answer, "Yes," or "No," to the question so put by the Speaker.

The Speaker put the question, "Will you go before the committee, and answer the question referred to in the resolution?"

To which Mr. Nevins replied in the negative.

Mr. Wright, of Boone, offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Frank E. Nevins, now before the bar of the House, has refused to answer certain questions required by the House to be answered; therefore, be it Resolved, That said Frank E. Nevins be committed by the doorkeeper of the House to the county jail of Sangamon county, there to remain until he shall signify his willingness to answer such questions as may be put to him by direction of the House, and that as soon as he shall signify such willingness, then the doorkeeper shall bring him before the bar of the House.

And the resolution was adopted.

In accordance with the resolution, the Speaker issued the following warrant:

The People of the State of Illinois to Nathan Crews, Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, and to Samuel Shoup, Sheriff of the county of Sangamon, in said State of Illinois:

We command you, the said Nathan Crews, Doorkeeper of said House of Representatives, to take the body of Frank E. Nevins, and him deliver to the keeper of the jail of Sangamon county, for contempt of said House of Representatives, in refusing to answer certain questions put to him by direction of the House, touching certain charges of corruption on the part of members.

And we command you, the said Samuel Shoup, Sheriff and jailor of said Sangamon county, to receive the said Frank E. Nevins into your custody, and him safely keep in the common jail of said county until he shall signify his willingness to answer such questions as may be put to him by direction of the House, touching the above mentioned charges.

And that you, the said Nathan Crews, Doorkeeper, and you, the said Samuel Shoup, Sheriff, shall, as soon as said Frank E. Nevins shall signify his willingness to answer the said questions, bring him before the bar of this House, and that you return this warrant, showing in what manner you executed the same.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand this 4th day of April, 1879.

[Signed]

W. A. JAMES,

Speaker House of Representatives.

Countersigned attest:

[Signed] W. B. TAYLOR,

TWO THIRTY O'CLOCK P. M.

House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Snigg offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, There is a growing tendency in national legislation, either by expressed sanction or unobjectionable permission, to concentrate power in the central government, and encroach upon the independence of the states, and the rights and liberties of the people: and

WHEREAS, This has become especially manifest in the practices of the federal courts, by the removal of causes from local or state courts having acquired jurisdiction thereof, to the United States courts, on the mere orders or demands upon the state courts, or the clerks thereof; by the numerous appointments of receivers of railroads, who thereupon claim exemption from the jurisdiction of any state courts, and treat their process, orders or decrees with defiance and contempt; and by the ordering or decreeing by the said federal courts of the sale and transfer of railroads, with the injurious and oppressive effect of relieving the purchasers, or withdrawing the railroads from their liabilities incurred for labor or material—often in contravention of local laws as to liens, etc.; and

WHEREAS, Many citizens of this and other states are by these practices deprived of that speedy and inexpensive justice guaranteed to them by their local constitutions in having to attend upon the sessions of the federal courts at long distances, great inconvenience, and at an expense amounting in many instances to the purchase of justice; therefore,

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the State of Illinois, the Senate concurring herein, That our Representatives in Congress be requested, and our Senators be instructed to institute and favor such legislation, (and use all means in their power), as will remedy these evils already existing, and restrain any further increase; to rectify this disturbance of the balance of our system of government, which is endangering the liberties of the people and the rights and independence of the states; and to restore our political system in this respect to the purity and simplicity in which the fathers bequeathed it.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be directed to transmit to our Senators and Representatives in Congress a copy of this preamble and resolution.
